NATIONAL PREVENTIVE MECHANISM

2016 Report

Belgrade, 2017

Dear Reader,

This is the fifth Annual Report of the Protector of Citizens on the activities accomplished by the Protector of Citizens in discharging the tasks of the National Preventive Mechanism in the Republic of Serbia.

Prevention of torture is one of the commitments adopted by the Republic of Serbia towards its citizens and the international convention to which it is a party.

In 2016, 92 visits were made to the places accommodating the persons deprived of their liberty and in view of the identified irregularities, 318 recommendations have been addressed to the competent authorities.

By way of presenting the findings and general and individual recommendations for the improvement of the current situation, the Report offers a clear and achievable course towards attaining the society free from torture, as an ideal objective. Nevertheless, the report clearly shows that the approach to the unfeasible goal is not in itself blurry or impossible, not even too hard or expensive.

It is upon us to accelerate this process, without any excuse or exception, for the sake of the victims of torture but also the dignity of all of us. Where a single human being is exposed to inhuman treatment, nobody's dignity can be guaranteed.

I would like to thank to all the bodies, associations of citizens and persons with whom we cooperated during the reporting period, while discharging the operations of the National Preventive Mechanism.

*Milos Jankovic

1. Introduction

1.1. General assessment of prohibition of torture and other cruel, inhumane or degrading treatments and punishments in the Republic of Serbia¹²

In the several years long mandate of the Protector of Citizens, set forth by the Optional Protocol to the UN Convention against torture², in discharging the activities under the National Preventive Mechanism (NPM), the Protector of Citizens found that the prevention of torture and other forms of abuse and treatment of persons deprived of their liberty, has significantly improved in the Republic of Serbia.

Following numerous visits to places where persons are or may be found deprived of liberty, the NPM concluded that there is no torture as an organized or encouraged phenomenon by state authorities in the Republic of Serbia.

It is encouraging that over the past few years the civil servants who treat persons deprived of their liberty have become aware that torture is absolutely illegal. In this regard, there are numerous testimonies of randomly interviewed persons deprived of their liberty, especially in prisons, that they were not victims of torture.

Nevertheless, this does not mean that there is no torture or other form of abuse in the Republic of Serbia. Individual cases of torture or abuse are always possible and expected to be occurring. The torture, as any other form of abuse, is of a situation-related and the persons deprived of their liberty are therefore exposed to a higher risk for a continuing period.

Other than that, individual cases of the treatment of persons deprived of their liberty have been identified as the result of deficiencies in the system and they represent the poor practice retained until today, deviating from the applicable standards, that might, considering the intensity and duration, grow into, and in some cases they indeed do, a humiliating or inhuman behaviour and prevent the torture.

Moreover, the systemic gaps in the organization and treatment of persons deprived of liberty, such as inadequate accommodation in some prisons, lack of or non-compliance with the procedures, lack of adequate psychological and social treatment, inappropriate health care and inadequate staffing might, particularly where persistent, adopt a character of an inhuman or humiliating behaviour.

1 For more details, please see Section 6 of this Report.

2 Adopted on December 18th, 2002 at the 57th session of the General Assembly of the UN based on the Resolution A/RES/57/199, entered into force on 22nd June 2006.

NPM has pointed out that the institutions in which the persons deprived of liberty are placed, that were visited by NPM team during the reporting period that were subsequently addressed with its recommendations, were highly cooperative and enabled the NPM to perform its assignment, as mandated by the established Optional Protocol to the UN Convention against torture (both announced and random visits to the detention centres were enabled, as well as the access to all the premises and installations, inspection of all the data including the interviews with all the prisoners, staff and any other persons selected by NPM).

However, despite the significant steps towards the prevention of torture and other forms of abuse, including the improvement in the treatment of the prisoners, NPM points out that the internal control, prosecution offices and court instruments require much more improvement in terms of effective and efficient fight against torture. In this respect, it would be recommendable to fully harmonize the provisions of the Criminal Code with the definition of torture referred to in Article 1 of the UN Convention against torture.

In the course of 2016, NPM visited a number of places where the persons deprived of liberty are placed, such as police stations, international reception centres for foreigners, detention units, prisons, psychiatric hospitals and psychiatric institutions in public hospitals, social welfare institutions used as homes, asylum centres and reception centres for migrants.

In acting upon the NPM recommendations, addressed with the aim to protect and warrant the rights of apprehended and detained persons, as well as to prevent their mistreatment by the police, the visited police departments hand over to the detainees the appropriate written notifications about the rights of the detained persons and maintain due records of detentions.

Although the Instructions on treatment of the detained and brought in persons has still not changed, the police officers of individual police departments ceased with the practice of obligatory presence during medical checkups of all the detained persons, but rather attend only at the request of a doctor, for security reasons. The files formed upon detention of persons no longer include the medical records of the persons while the information about the health condition of the detained person are available to the police officers only to the extent relevant for the treatment of that person upon his/her detention.

A number of detention premises in police stations still do not comply with present standards in terms of material conditions and the recommendations of NPM to improve the conditions in certain detention premises was predominantly not acted upon, stating unacceptable reasons – the lack of material and technical conditions.

NPM has found that the Ministry of Interior failed to organize appropriate trainings for police officers in each police department in the Republic of Serbia about the treatment of mentally impaired persons.

Taking into account the significance of having additional prevention and protection measures against abuse of persons deprived of their liberty, recording of information received from citizens (the interviews) and hearing of suspects, the Ministry of Interior was addressed a recommendation to, in cooperation with the Ministry of Justice, within their legal competences, ensure the funds and required technical equipment for audio and visual recording of hearing processes. However, this recommendation has still not been acted upon.

The position of detainees remained almost unchanged compared to the previous period. There is still a public perception of having the detention measure easily pursued and often accompanied with the violating the principle of the presumption of innocence, that in certain cases the detention represents a punishment before judgement. Despite of NPM's recommendations to the institutions to ensure living room space for detainees and find a way to engage them in work, they continue to spend the most of the day locked in their dormitories, without any purposeful activities organized.

NPM, the same as in previous reports, points to the issue of having the detained women kept in solitary confinement for an unacceptably long period due to a relatively small number of women in one detention unit. Although the system for the execution of criminal sanctions perceives the isolation /solitary confinement as special and/or disciplinary measure strictly limited in time, in practice, for certain female detainees this is the regular measure taken against them, which indicates the negative aspect of women detention system.

During the reporting period, the material conditions have been improved in certain institutions for the enforcement of criminal sanctions. However, three institutions were found to be completely unusable and their refurbishment in accordance with the standards impracticable and therefore, recommendations were addressed to close them and/or to have them moved elsewhere (the district courts in Smederevo and Subotica and Vršac Section of the District Prison in Pančevo).

According to the recommendations of NPM to ensure the prevention of abuse, following the coercive measures against prisoners, the prison doctors enter in their reports on completed checkups, specifying the statements of persons about the manner in which the injuries were inflicted and their opinion about the connection between the coercive measures applied and the injuries, as their legal obligation. In addition to the afore mentioned, acting in line with the recommendations, the institutions have established the Record of Injuries of persons deprived of their liberty, including the practice of making photographs of injuries, while the non-medical staff ceased to attend the medical checkups of the prisoners.

Providing of medical care in institutions is still under the jurisdiction of the Ministry of Justice – Administration for Enforcement of Criminal Sanctions. This is not in accordance with the international best practice and deprives the doctors of their independence, first of all in creating assumptions for determining the cases of torture.

In the reporting period, acting upon recommendations of NPM, the Ministry of Health initiated the regular professional oversight over the work of health services within the institutions.

The shortcoming pointed to by the NPM that is still present, was that the principle of common enforcement of sanction is not achieved. Specifically, during the day, a large number of convicts do not spend time with other convicts in common occupancies, but instead, they are isolated in the cells all the time (either alone or in small groups).

Certain institutions have shown some progress with engaging the prisoners in work, which should be done throughout the entire prison system.

The process of classifying the convicts is insufficiently transparent. The convicts are not being sufficiently familiarized with the criteria for improvements, the tutors are mainly dealing with administration of questionnaires. The mechanism of improvements regarding the treatment against the current criteria, involves the harder transfer of convicts to more favourable tutorial groups, so that many convicts are being released from prison from the same tutorial group to which they were classified immediately upon their admission to prison.

The prison capacities designated for minors and women are the central (exclusive) institutions accommodating 200 persons each. Strong informal systems are being created there, particularly those designated for minors, which makes the adequate treatment impossible. In such central institutions, the problem is that certain prisoners are kept very far from their residence, which considerably obstructs their contacts with families.

During 2016, NPM also dealt with the position of transgender persons deprived of their liberty. The competent authorities were recommended to, upon admission of trans gender persons to the institution, enable them select whether their personal search would be performed only by the officer of a certain gender or whether the combined search and examination will be conducted, whether the officers are to address the trans gender persons in the gender these persons feel they belong to, unless otherwise requested by these persons, as well as to have appropriate training for the staff about the way in which the lesbians, gays, bisexual, transgender and intersex prisoners should be treated.

Special attention should be paid to the deprivation of liberty and treatment of persons placed in social welfare institutions – homes. The improvements primarily need to be made to regulations so as to regulate the issue of restricting the rights of persons placed in home social institutions, particularly their forced apprehension and keeping, including their physical restraint.

The conclusion of NPM is that among the persons deprived of their liberty, the persons having mental disorders are in the worst position, whether they be placed in social welfare institutions – homes, psychiatric hospitals or in institutions for enforcement of criminal sanctions.³

There are numerous acts in which NPM stated that persons with severe mental disorders should not be placed under regular prison regime. Moreover NPM points out that persons suffering from serious mental disorders who committed an offence containing the elements of criminal act, who do not pose particular threat upon the society, should not be processed based on the Criminal Procedure Code, but rather be kept and placed in a psychiatric institution, pursuant to the Law on Protection of Persons with Mental Disorders. It is unacceptable to keep persons having serious mental disorders in custody due to the threats shared over social networks or to keep the persons on the security measure of compulsory medical treatment and care at the health care institution over ten years, due a bicycle theft.

NPM believes that the practice of keeping the persons with mental and/or intellectual disorders at residential institutions (psychiatric hospitals and social welfare institutions – homes) for a prolonged period, for some of them even for life. This is largely the consequence of having no resources to provide care and support to these persons outside the institutions. More specifically, there is no efficient concept of deinstitutionalization in the Republic of Serbia that would provide the living conditions for persons having mental and/or intellectual disorders within the local community, with their close family. The current concept is not comprehensive and is based on providing services and administering of accommodation as a part of care. Instead, it is necessary to establish a unified national care and support concept for these persons and their families and at the level of local communities form multidisciplinary services that shall be fully equipped in terms of staffing, logistics and finance, to provide a continuing support and care for the persons that require this, including to their families. The types of services and form of accommodation must not be administered in advance. They should be defined based on the needs that are subject to changes and that should be the outcome of duly conducted estimates by the multidisciplinary services at the local community level.

The shortcomings of the Law on Protection of Persons with Mental Disorders have still not been eliminated. It has been regulated that the services for protection of mental health in the community are to be organized as the additional activity of psychiatric institutions and health care centres that neither have sufficient human resources nor interest in providing such support. Due to such solution, the deinstitutionalization activities in Serbia are negligible. The Law has introduced isolation measure for psychiatric patients that is not only contrary to the applicable standards, but also to the established practice in Serbia. Furthermore, the Law has prescribed the competence of police officers to maintain order within the psychiatric hospitals, which is not in line with the current standards, considering that these are armed persons wearing uniforms.

The present psychiatric hospitals are huge, each of them accommodates around several hundreds of patients. They have largely adopted the character of asylum centres, as numerous patients are excommunicated from the community for more than one month, many of them as long as for a decade, while some even for life. There is a trend of keeping a large number of persons in hospitals for social reasons, as there is no other form of support and their treatment in the community.

The court decisions on compulsory hospitalization of persons with mental disorders are mainly based on expertise provided by doctors employed in hospitals proposing such measures. Moreover, there is a number of cases where the consent to hospitalization was provided by persons who were in an agitated condition after being brought by police officers, although the statements given under such circumstances cannot be regarded as legally relevant.

NPM believes that the activities to improve the current legislation must be intensified, including the treatment of persons with disabilities placed in social welfare institutions – homes. Namely, a large number of persons with mental and intellectual disorders are placed in remote and often huge institutions, far from their community and their social environment. Also, living conditions in many of these occupancies are rather poor and disregarding the required psychological and sociological treatment. All these institutions lack staff, which has an adverse impact on both the staff members and inmates.

Pursuant to the applicable legislation, in the event of economic deprivation of persons, the consent to medical treatment is provided by their guardian who is often not present at the moment when this needs to be administered. Also, it is extremely important to regulate the role of the person having mental and intellectual disorders in making decisions about medical measures, that is, in providing consent to such measures. In this respect, the regulations need to be improved so as to ensure a more effective protection of these persons when applying medical or scientific tests.

In its visit reports, NPM addressed the recommendations to establish procedures regarding the physical restraint of social welfare beneficiaries, introducing of Record maintaining to register the injuries of inmates and engage independent authorized physician who would issue death certificates for patients. The recommendations also addressed the provision of sufficient number of staff to work with the inmates and required number of orthopaedic aids for them. In order to ensure the privacy of inmates, the recommendations were given to ensure the preconditions for their privacy. NPM expresses its concerns, as in certain institutions of social welfare – homes, they identified cases of keeping persons in isolation and some of them in rooms without elementary conditions, comparable to cages, without tap water or available toilet facility. Such treatment is the case of abuse and where prolonged, represents a torture. Also, it was found that in the social welfare institutions – homes, other than isolation, the measure of mechanical restraint with tying of patients is used, although, unlike psychiatric institutions, there are no legal grounds for either of such conducts.

The freedom of movement outside the institutions is still being limited to the beneficiaries, despite the fact that there are no legal grounds for that, nor any procedures in place that would regulate their keeping inside the institution. NPM referred a recommendation to the Ministry of Labour, Employment, Veteran and Social Affairs in order to take action from their own jurisdiction and provide appropriate regulation of such situation.

NPM sent the recommendations in the Reports on visits made to social welfare institutions – homes, to adopt the Regulation that would set forth the issue of providing items for personal needs of inmates placed in homes, to develop a Protocol on acting in the event of an unexpected (sudden) death of beneficiaries, including to ensure the sufficient number of medical, nursing and other staff.

The migrants are now staying in Serbia for a longer time and therefore, the problem of providing the required care to them is by far more complex. Unlike the previous period when they used to transit through Serbia and stay for only couple of days, they are now staying for several months. Some of them wish to seek an asylum in Serbia, but most of them still desire to continue their journey to the developed countries of EU. Bearing in mind that the migrants will stay in the centres for a prolonged period, by the end of the reporting period, NPM sent to the Commissariat for Refugees and Migrations the recommendation to introduce the procedure of complaints against the work of persons engaged in centres. The uncertainty of continuing the journey, prolonged stay in Serbia, insecure future and not understanding the situation where they have found themselves cause stress among the migrants, that may be recognized during the visits and interviews with them. It is therefore important to provide them the psychological support that is not organized in the majority of visited centres. NPM recommended that the support of professional staff and premises for talking with the migrants are provided.

1.2. The most important data on the activities of the Protector of Citizens regarding the NPM activities in 2016⁴

In 2016, NPM made 92 visits to institutions accommodating persons deprived of their liberty, with overall 318 recommendations addressed to the competent authorities and visited institutions.

Overall 51 institutions were visited as part of the regular visits, in particular: 33 police stations, 8 institutions for enforcement of criminal sanctions, 3 psychiatric hospitals and 7 social welfare institutions of a home type. Following these visits, the visited institutions were presented with the Reports that included recommendations for eliminating the identified deficiencies in their work that may, or actually do, result in abuse.

In 2016, NPM made four visits aimed at monitoring the acting upon previously addressed recommendations, specifically: Police Administration in Novi Pazar and stations operation under it, the seat of Police Administration in Pirot, Police station in Vršac and District Court in Leskovac.

With the support of the UN High Commissioner for Refugees in Serbia (hereinafter: the UNHCR), in the course of 2016, NPM, in cooperation with the Belgrade Centre for Human Rights, made 52 thematic visits to the institutions competent to deal with asylum seekers and refugees. The thematic reports on these visits addressed 72 recommendations for eliminating the identified deficiencies.

In cooperation with the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights OHCHR, The Protector of Citizens organized a round table, to discuss the topic of "Human rights and social involvement of refugees and migrants in the Republic of Serbia", including the two-day meeting in Belgrade, of the NPM Network of South-East Europe, attended by the representatives of the Network members and associations from Serbia. The topic of the meeting was the preventive approach to the prevention of human rights of refugees and migrants in the countries of South East Europe.

In order to inform the migrants about their rights and options for obtaining different ways of protection for themselves in the Republic of Serbia, The Protector of Citizens produced written leaflets in English, French, Arabic, Farsa and Urdu languages, distributed among the migrants during the visits of NPM teams.

To promote and protect the rights of persons deprived of their liberty and prevent torture, the NPM representatives took part in a number of conferences, round tables, workshops, seminars and trainings.

Nobody may be subjected to torture, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment⁷.

Prohibition of torture is envisaged by other legislation, inter alia, by the Law on Criminal Proceedings⁸, Law on Police⁹ and the Law on Enforcement of Criminal Sanctions¹⁰. The Criminal Code¹¹ defines the torture and maltreatment as a separate criminal act¹².

12 Convention against Torture, Article 4.: (1) Each State Party shall ensure that all acts of torture are offences under its criminal law. The same shall apply to an attempt to commit torture and to an act by any person which constitutes complicity or participation in torture. (2) Each State Party shall make these offences punishable by appropriate penalties which take into account their grave nature.

2.2. International instruments

Serbia is a signatory country to all most important conventions concerning prohibition, i.e., prevention of torture. The International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights¹³, that in its Article 7, adopted the provision on prohibition of torture referred to under Article 5 of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights¹⁴, was ratified in 1971¹⁵.

Convention against Torture and other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment¹⁶ (Convention against torture) was ratified in 1991¹⁷. It constitutes one of the most important international instruments in the area of torture prohibition.

Convention against torture, Article 1, paragraph 1.

The term „torture“ means any act by which severe pain or suffering, whether physical or mental, is intentionally inflicted on a person for such purposes as obtaining from him or a third person information or a confession, punishing him for an act he or a third person has committed or is suspected of having committed or intimidating or coercing him or a third person, or for any reason based on discrimination of any kind, when such pain or suffering is inflicted by or at the instigation of or with the consent or acquiescence of a public official or other person acting in an official capacity. It does not include pain or suffering arising only from, inherent in or incidental to lawful sanctions.

In addition to providing the most comprehensive definition of torture, the Convention against torture contains a set of other most important provisions for eradication of torture.

Convention against torture, Article 2, paragraph 1.

Each State Party shall take effective legislative, administrative, judicial or other measures to prevent acts of torture in any territory under its jurisdiction.

The Convention against torture also contains provisions prohibiting expulsion or extradition of a person to the state in which that person was exposed to torture.

14 Adopted by the General Assembly of United Nations on December 10th, 1948 in Paris.

16 Adopted on December 10, 1984 in New York.

17 „Official Gazette of SFRY – International Treaties», no. 9/91.

Convention against torture, Article 3, paragraphs 1 and 2.

No State Party shall expel, return („refouler“) or extradite a person to another State where there are substantial grounds for believing that he would be in danger of being subjected to torture.

For the purpose of determining whether there are such grounds, the competent authorities shall take into account all relevant considerations including, where applicable, the existence in the State concerned of a consistent pattern of gross, flagrant or mass violations of human rights.

The Convention against torture binds the State Parties to ensure that introduction and information about the prohibition of torture be integral part of training delivered to officials, medical workers, holders of public offices, as well as any other person who in any other way is in contact with persons deprived of their liberty¹⁸.

Convention against torture, Article 12.

Each State Party shall ensure that its competent authorities proceed to a prompt and impartial investigation, wherever there is reasonable ground to believe that an act of torture has been committed in any territory under its jurisdiction.

To this end, each state party shall ensure that any person believing to have been subjected to torture, is enabled to exercise their right to complain to the competent authority, that shall immediately and impartially undertake to investigate that case and provide protection to the person who filed such complaint and the witness, against any harmful treatment or other form of intimidation due to the filed complaint or the provided statement¹⁹.

Convention against torture, Article 14, paragraph 1.

Each State Party shall ensure in its legal system that the victim of an act of torture obtains redress and has an enforceable right to fair and adequate compensation, including the means for as full rehabilitation as possible.²⁰

Each State Party shall ensure that any statement which is established to have been made as a result of torture shall not be invoked as evidence in any proceedings, except against a person accused of torture, as the evidence that the statement was made²¹.

The Convention against torture established the Committee against torture²². The State Parties submit to the Committee reports on the measures they have taken to give effect to their undertakings under this Convention. The Committee reviews each report, and when it deems necessary, it issues comments to the report and submit them to the interested State Party, and the State Party may answer to these comments²³. The Republic of Serbia submitted its reports to the Committee, and the Committee sent its comments to the reports²⁴.

European Convention of Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms²⁵ and European Convention for the Prevention of Torture and Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment²⁶ (European Convention for the Prevention of Torture) were ratified in 2003.²⁷

The European Convention for the Prevention of Torture established the European Committee for the Prevention of Torture.²⁸ The state is obliged to allow the Committee to visit all places where the persons deprived of their liberty are placed.²⁹ The State is obliged to enable Committee the access to its territory and traveling throughout the country with no restrictions, as well as access to complete information about the places where persons deprived of their liberty are held, including the right to free movement at those places and the right to communicate freely with persons deprived of liberty without witnesses present, as well as with any person believed to possess relevant information.³⁰ After each visit the Committee composes its report about the facts found during the visits.³¹ By the end of 2015, the Committee made four visits to Serbia, in 2004, 2007, 2011 and 2015.³²

3. Optional Protocol to the Convention against Torture

By the Optional Protocol to the Convention against Torture and other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatments and Punishments³³ (the Optional Protocol) all State parties acknowledged that mistreatment is prohibited and that it constitutes severe violation of human rights³⁴.

By the Optional Protocol all State Parties agreed to establish the system of regular visits to the places where persons deprived of their liberty are held by independent international and national bodies, in order to prevent torture or any other cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment.³⁵

The intention of the Optional Protocol to enable visits and/or permanent presence of the mechanism for the prevention of torture in the institutions where persons deprived of their liberty are placed, due to the understanding that the major problem of closed institutions is that anything occurring within these institutions is closed to the public.

All State Parties to the Optional Protocol are obliged to allow visits paid by the mechanisms established under the Optional Protocol to any place under its jurisdiction and control where persons are or may be deprived of their liberty, either by virtue of an order given by a public authority or at its instigation or with its consent or approval (places of detention).³⁶

3.1. Sub-committee on Prevention of Torture³⁷

The Optional Protocol established Sub-Committee on Prevention of Torture and other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment and Punishment³⁸.

Sub-Committee on Prevention of Torture is authorized to visit all detention places and issue its recommendations to the State Parties in relation with the protection of persons deprived of their liberty from torture and other cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment.³⁹

The State Parties to the Optional Protocol undertake:

- to receive the Sub-committee on Prevention of Torture in their territory;

- to review the recommendations of the Sub-committee for Prevention of Torture and enter into a dialogue with it about possible implementing measures.⁴⁰

The Sub-Committee on Prevention of Torture hasn't visited Serbia yet.

3.2. National Preventive Mechanisms (NPM)

relevant UN norms, as well as to submit any proposals and deliver its opinions with respect to the current or proposed laws⁴³.

The State shall undertake to warrant the functional independence of the NPM as well as the independence of its staff⁴⁴.

No authority or official shall be allowed to order, implement, allow or tolerate any sanction against any person or organization due to their sharing any information with NPM, whether true or not, and no such person or organization shall suffer any other consequences whatsoever⁴⁵.

3.3. Establishment of NPM in Serbia

Serbia signed the Optional Protocol on September 25th 2003 and ratified it on December 1st 2005⁴⁸.

Serbia became the State Party to the Optional Protocol⁴⁹ on September 26th 2006.

Serbia was four years late with the fulfilment of its obligation to have, designate or introduce an independent national mechanism for prevention of torture to be adopted within a year time following the effective date of the Optional Protocol or after its ratification or accession by a state.⁵⁰

NPM was established in Serbia by the Law on Amendments to the Law on Ratification of Optional Protocol, adopted on July 28th 2011.⁵¹

In line with the consensus reached in the public debate, no new NPM entity was established in Serbia, instead of which a complex model of the NPM was chosen, which implied that all NPM tasks would be performed by the existing independent state authority in cooperation with the decentralized units and the civil sector.

The Protector of Citizens is performing the tasks of the NPM in cooperation with the Autonomous Province Ombudsmen and associations whose statute envisages improvement and protection of human rights and freedoms.⁵²

In the course of selection of the complex NPM model in Serbia, all principles related to the status and functioning of the national institutions for the improvement and protection of human rights were taken into account⁵³.

By virtue of the Republic of Serbia Constitution⁵⁴, the Protector of Citizens has been established as an independent state authority protecting the rights of citizens and controlling the work of state administration bodies and other holders of public powers⁵⁵. The Law on Protector of Citizens⁵⁶ establishes the Protector of Citizens as an independent state authority, having autonomy in discharging its work that protects and takes care of improving the rights of citizens⁵⁷. In April 2010, it has been recognized as the authority whose actions are based on the Paris Principles⁵⁸.

The Protector of Citizens is an independent and autonomous state authority, the ombudsman having universal competences, accredited as a national institution for the human rights with the "A" status with the International Coordinating Committee (ICC).

The Protector of Citizens is authorized under the Law on the Protector of Citizens to visit any institution accommodating the persons deprived of their liberty, to talk in private with them and with any employee of the institution and also to have access to all data relevant for achieving the goal of the prevention, irrespective of the level of secrecy⁵⁹.

4. Methodology, resources and organization of NPM in 2016

1.1. NPM Methodology

The role of NPM of Serbia activities is exclusively preventive. NPM does not oversee legality or regularity of the work of the competent authorities in certain cases, but instead, it timely informs the organizational unit of the Protector of Citizens acting upon complaints filed by persons deprived of their liberty.

NPM of Serbia makes visits to institutions accommodating persons deprived of their liberty following the prearranged methodology.

Methodology of the work of the Serbian NPM is based on the provisions of the Optional Protocol that set the NPM mandate for frequent visits to the institutions where persons are or may be deprived of their liberty.

NPM methodology recognizes the following three types of visits: regular follow-up visits verifying the compliance with the recommendations, thematic and extraordinary (ad-hoc) visits. Visits may be announced and unannounced.

The Serbian NPM Methodology pays special attention to conducting unannounced visits to the institutions where persons are or may be deprived of their liberty.

Following the initial period, in which the objective determined under the Methodology was to pay regular visits to all institutions, the plan for the subsequent period was to increase the number of the follow-up visits. This enables monitoring of the status determined during the previous regular visits, particularly acting by competent authorities upon the NPM recommendations.

The methodology of the NPM of Serbia is focused on follow-up visits to the institutions where persons deprived of their liberty are placed.

When making preparations for the visits to institutions, the existing information are taken into consideration. The tasks are shared so that by rule, the visiting team is split into four thematic groups: the first one is to observe accommodation capacities (the group for observing accommodation conditions), the second one reviews the provision of legal protection in the institution (the legal group), the third reviews the treatments administered to the persons deprived of their liberty (the treatment group) while the fourth group examines the achievement of health care provided to individuals kept in the institutions (the health care group) In order to increase efficiency of collecting the relevant information during the visits, the working material is distributed to all the team members in advance (such as questionnaires, structure and templates of the parts of reports) serving as a guiding tool.

NPM Teams that are conducting visits to the institutions where persons deprived of their liberty are placed are multidisciplinary and as a rule, formed of experienced lawyers, psychiatrists, forensic medical examiners and psychologists.

As a rule, regular visits are scheduled in advance, in specific stages. The first stage is the interview with the management of institution, the second one is the joint tour of the institution. The third stage is planned to include interviews of the NPM thematic group representatives (the legal, treatment and health care group) with the managements of respective services and examination of documents. The fourth stage are the interviews with persons deprived of their liberty while the fifth stage includes a brief meeting of all the thematic groups and the closing discussion with the institution management, at which the preliminary impressions about the visit and the observed conditions are being shared. Acting upon the established stages is not obligatory, it depends on the nature of visit and other circumstances. The common practice is that certain stages are omitted in visits of different nature.

During each visit, in order to achieve a more efficient and systematic performance, the team members use questionnaires that they need to fill in, including the compendiums of excerpts from all relevant regulations and standards related to their specific field of work.

In line with the work methodology, as a rule, the reports are being composed following the prearranged structure. However, depending on the nature of visit and data collected in the course of specific visit, the scheduled structure of report may be changed and adjusted to the nature of the visit, at the proposal of the team members.

The reports on the conducted visits to the institutions where persons deprived of their liberty are placed, NPM stated the omissions and provided its recommendations for eliminating the deficiencies as potential sources of torture or mistreatment. In the event of identifying deficiencies and/or any irregularities in the work, the relevant provisions and standards that the status and actions need to be aligned with are being specified, along with the issued recommendations.

The Reports are being sent to the visited institutions and the competent Ministry, providing, as a rule, the time limit for stating their opinion about their compliance with the issued recommendations, with an invitation for a dialogue to review the implementation of the recommendations.

The NPM methodology envisages initiating the dialogue with the visited institution and the competent Ministry with the aim to ensure the implementation of recommendations.

The purpose of the dialogue with the visited institutions and competent Ministries is to review the conditions found in the visited institution and the system as a whole, primarily to seek for the best method of acting upon the recommendations addressed by NPM after having completed the visits.

In order to concurrently satisfy both the requirement of confidentiality and transparency in work, the NPM Report made upon the visits to institutions, containing all the personal data on that have been redacted, are published after the competent authorities express their opinion about the recommendations presented in the reports. All reports and answers of the competent authorities are published on the web page of the Protector of Citizens and subpage of the NPM.

The concept of the NPM Methodology is to dedicate special attention to the protection of persons deprived of their liberty, of detention centre employees and any other persons who have had contacts with NPM, that notified NPM about the treatment of persons deprived of their liberty or reported the cases of mistreatment.

The NPM of Serbia is particularly focused on the prevention of retaliation in a way to protect all sources of information and/or details about individuals who provided these information. In case their identity is disclosed, as a prevention, NPM makes subsequent visits to these persons and oversees their situation, specifically, the way they are being treated by the staff in the detention centres. In addition, the responsible persons are being cautioned that any retaliation against the persons who cooperated with NPM would represent the worst form of abuse.

The NPM Methodology envisages intensive activities aimed at fighting against impunity of torture, or any other form of mistreatment. Such activities, or any other behaviour representing torture are being signalled to all the competent authorities, with the expectation that in such cases, they will take any available measures and actions under their jurisdiction to investigate the accountability of their employees.

The NPM of Serbia takes note of activities of competent authorities in order to fight the impunity of torture and establish both the individual and objective accountability.

4.2. Material resources and financial independence of the NPM

In order for NPM to be able to successfully perform its tasks in line with its term of office set forth by the Law on Ratification of Optional Protocol, it is necessary to ensure the required material resources for its work and achieve its financial independence.

The total amount of RSD 10,871,057.00 (around € 87,600.00) have been provided within the adopted budget of the Protector of Citizens, allocated for the provision of the NPM activities in 2016.

In 2016, two offices in the office building of the Protector of Citizens were used by the NPM staff, including the van used for the transportation of the team members to the locations where they made visits. The NPM staff were able to use all the required office and other equipment and material (PCs, printers, laptops, photocopiers, humidity and distance meters etc.).

4.3. Special NPM unit and its functional autonomy

By the end of 2015, the National Assembly of the RS adopted the Decision on the approval of the Rulebook on the Internal Organization and Job Classification within the Secretariat of the Protector of the Citizens no. 48-709/14 of 22 October 2014, which envisages forming a special unit that shall perform NPM activities - the NPM Secretariat. Subject to the provisions of this Rulebook, NPM Secretariat does not operate under the Secretariat of the Protector of the Citizens and it is directly responsible for its work to the Protector of the Citizens, i.e., Deputy Protector of the Citizens in charge of the NPM affairs.

In 2016, the Protector of Citizens hired one more bachelor of law, to perform the job of an independent advisor in the NPM Secretariat, meaning that the NPM activities are now being discharged by four employees.

The projected number of the staff is not sufficient for the improvement of the work of the NPM.

The envisaged number of officers working in the NPM Secretariat (one senior advisor, one independent advisor and two advisors) is not sufficient, taking into account its mandate and the requirement of being efficient with the entrusted tasks. It is therefore necessary to form a special department within the Protector of Citizens institution that would be managed by the NPM Secretary, whose position would be at the same level as that held by the Secretary General of the Protector of Citizens Secretariat. The NPM Secretary would be supported by two assistants (one for monitoring and the other for cooperation, reporting and legislation improvement). It is also necessary that, considering the nature of their work, the assistant and the employee tasked with monitoring, have all the powers of inspection employees, police officers and the employees of the Administration for enforcement of criminal sanctions having direct contacts with prisoners. For the NPM mandate operations it is necessary to form a separate budget line within the budget of the Protector of Citizens. The efficient work of NPM requires the adoption of the Law on NPM without delay, or amendments to the Law on Protector of Citizens, so as to regulate the organization and the NPM mandate implementation scheme.

4.4. Participation of the Provincial Protector of Citizens in the NPM activities

Representatives of the Provincial Protector of Citizens took part in 14 conducted visits in the course of the year of 2015.

In the course of 2016, the Protector of Citizens continued his cooperation with the Provincial Protector of Citizens of AP Vojvodina (the Provincial Protector of Citizens) with the concluded Memorandum of Cooperation, on visiting the detention places located within the Autonomous Province of Vojvodina.

In discharging the NPM operations, the Provincial Protector of Citizens visited the Police Administration in Subotica, District Prison in Subotica, Home for children and adults with mental disabilities “Veternik”, Gerontology Center in Novi Sad, Home for persons with mental disabilities Otthon and the Gerontology Center in Vršac.

The representatives of the Provincial Protector of Citizens also attended the thematic visits of NPM, in order to monitor the treatment of refugees/migrants acting by competent authorities. In 2016, together with the Protector of Citizens, the Provincial Protector of Citizens visited the Reception Center in Subotica and Sombor, border crossing points in Horgoš and Kelebija, Reception Centre in Subotica and Sombor, BCPs Horgoš and Kelebija, District Prison in Subotica, Correctional Institution in Sombor and Regional Border Police Centres at BCPs with Hungary and Romania.

4.5. Participation of the civil sector in the NPM activities

At the beginning of 2016, pursuant to Article 2a, Para 2 of the Law on Ratification of Optional Protocol to the Convention against Torture and other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment („Off.Gazette of Serbia and Montenegro – International Treaties“, no. 16/05 u 2/06 and “Official Gazette of RS - International Treaties“, no. 7/11), the Protector of Citizens made a public invitation to associations whose Statutes envisage improvement and protection of human rights and freedoms, for the purpose of cooperation with NPM activities and in particular, participation of association representatives and partners of associations in the visits to locations where persons deprived of their liberty are placed, drafting of reports, providing recommendations, opinions and other acts and performance other NPM tasks.

Based on the procedure that followed the public call⁶², the Protector of Citizens adopted the Decision⁶³ whereby 9 associations were selected to participate in NPM tasks: Belgrade Centre for Human Rights, Victimology Society of Serbia, Group 484, Mental Disability Rights Initiative (MDRI-S), Lawyers’ Committee for Human Rights (YUCOM), International Aid Network (IAN), Committee for Human Rights in Valjevo, Helsinki Committee for Human Rights in Serbia and Centre for Human Rights in Niš.

Based on the Decision on the selection of associations, the Protector of Citizens concluded individual cooperation agreements with the above stated associations on performing NPM tasks, defining all the issues relevant for the implementation of cooperation (tasks, activities, rights, obligations, powers, compensation of costs and other).⁶⁴

The Protector of Citizens passed the Decision on fees for performing of NPM activities, based on the Cooperation Agreements⁶⁵. This Decision regulates the amount of cost refund for the Associations providing their support to the Protector of Citizens with the performance of NPM tasks.⁶⁶

4.6. Participation of external experts in s NPM activities

The NPM teams for visits to the institutions where persons deprived of their liberty are placed, should have a multidisciplinary character.

The representatives of the Protector of Citizens, Provincial Protector of Citizens and associations within the teams visiting the institutions accommodating persons deprived of their liberty are predominantly formed of lawyers, and therefore, the efficient performance of NPM requires outsourcing of other experts.

Experts in the forensic medicine, psychiatry, psychology, special prevention and internal medicine are also engaged in the NPM work.

In 2016, the following persons participated in the work of NPM: professor Đorđe Alimipijević, PhD, specialist in the forensic medicine, Medical School of the University of Belgrade; professor Dragan Ječmenica, PhD, specialist in the forensic medicine, Medical School of the University of Belgrade; Professor Snežana Pavlekić, PhD, specialist in forensic medicine, Medical School of the University of Belgrade, Professor Vladimir Jović, PhD, physiatrist, Faculty of Philosophy of the University of Priština / Kosovska Mitrovica and Dr Radomir Samardžić, specialist psychiatrist and Dr Mira Petrović, specialist psychiatrist.

The expertise of the outsourced professionals contributed to the improvement and raising the quality of NPM work, primarily the generated reports and numerous recommendations for elimination of identified deficiencies.

4.7. Training of the NPM staff

In the course of 2016, NPM representatives attended the seminar for Monitoring of forced return operations. The two-day seminar was held in Warsaw, in the organization of Border and Coast Guard Agency FRONTEX.

The study visit to the Human Rights Defender in Armenia was also organized. During the visit, the representatives of the Protector of Citizens paid special attention to exercising of rights and protection of rights of persons deprived of their liberty and understanding the modus operandi of the National Preventive Mechanism in Armenia. Joint visits were also organized to the institutions where persons deprived of their liberty are being placed (the prison and police detention).

The NPM representative passed the training on migrations and the law on international human right organized by the NGO Group 484 and the Organization for Security and Cooperation in Europe OSCE, tackling the issue of protection for migrants before international courts and the current development of European law in this field.

More attention should be paid to the professional training of the NPM staff in the future work of the NPM.

4.8. Other forms of cooperation

In 2016, the cooperation with the Republic of Serbia National Assembly Committee for Labour, Social Affairs, Social Inclusion and Poverty Reduction of the of the Republic of Serbia was established, to exchange information about the status and present problems with providing care for refugees and migrants, with the focus on vulnerable categories, such as women, children, disabled persons, the elderly and other.

The intensified cooperation has been established with UNHCR and associations Belgrade Centre for Human Rights and Group 484 was established, with the aim to implement the enhancement activities and ensure protection of refugees/migrants in Serbia from ill-treatment.

NPM organized a round table with the topic "Human Rights and Social inclusion of Refugees and Migrants in the Republic of Serbia" in order to initiate the dialogue between all relevant actors in achieving specific plans to introduce an adequate and timely inclusion of refugees and migrants in Serbia and protect their rights. The round table was organized within the project "Human rights of Migrants and Refugees: Serbia and the Balkan Route – National Institutions for Protection of Human Rights and International and Legal Activities" jointly implemented by the Protector of Citizens and the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights of OHCHR, with the support of the Federal Government of the Republic of Germany.

With the support of the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights OHCHR, NPM held the press conference to mark the 10-year anniversary since the effective date of the Optional Protocol to the Convention against Torture and other Cruel, Inhuman or degrading Treatments and Punishments (OPCAT), and the meeting of the NPM Network of South East Europe in Belgrade. The topic of the meeting was the preventive approach to the protection of human rights of refugees and migrants in the SEE countries. Also, with the support of the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights OHCHR, NPM made several visits to the locations accommodating the migrants and developed flyers on the rights of refugees and migrants and mechanisms for their exercising and protection in the territory of the Republic of Serbia in English, French, Arabic, Farsi and Urdu languages. To ensure the highest possible awareness among the migrants, NPM team distributed the flyers to refugees and migrants during the visits.

5. Fulfilment of the NPM mandate in the cours of 2016

5.1. Visits to the institutions where persons are deprived of their liberty

In 2016, NPM made 92 visits to the institutions where are placed the persons deprived of their liberty.

Overall 33 visits were made to police administrations and police stations operating under the administrations (PA Kruševac and five police stations operating under them; PA Požarevac and seven police stations operating under them; PA Subotica; PA Niš and six police stations operating under them; PA Leskovac and five police stations operating under them; PA Pirot; PA Novi Pazar and two police stations operating under them and PS Vršac). Only one visit was aimed at monitoring the actions taken upon previous recommendations, in the Home "Veternik".

Additional visits were made to special psychiatric hospitals (Special Hospital in Vršac and Special Hospital for Psychiatric Diseases in Kovin) including 1 visit to the Psychiatric department of the General Hospital in Subotica, that were addressed 8 recommendations on that occasion. ⁶⁸ Considering that the visits to special psychiatric hospitals were made by the end of the year, the reports on the visits including the recommendations, were addressed in early 2017 and therefore, these recommendation are not included in this Report.

5.2. Cooperation between the public authorities and the NPM in the course of the visits to the institutions

In 2016, the NPM was provided an unhindered access to all institutions where persons are deprived of their liberty are placed and to employees, including the access to full documentation.

In the course of NPM visits conducted to the institutions where persons deprived of their liberty are placed conducted in 2016, the competent authorities and institutions acted in line with Article 20 of the Optional Protocol.

Such acting of competent authorities is the result of a continuing, several years long practice of ensuring the free performance of NPM under its mandate.

5.3. Reports on visits to institutions

In 2016, NPM made 54 Reports on visits to the institutions where persons deprived of their liberty are placed.

After each visit, in line with the set methodology and practice, the NPM generates reports on these visits with recommendations for the elimination of identified deficiencies, with applicable legislation and standards observed by NPM when establishing the current deficiencies regarding the operation institutions.

The difference in the number of the visited institutions (92) and the generated reports (54) is due to the fact that some of the reports comprise several institutions, so as to allow a systemic understanding of a particular problem.

The reports on visits and/or the identified status, have been composed by the visiting team members, specifically, the Protector of Citizens, Provincial Protector of Citizens of the AP Vojvodina and associations and the appointed experts.

5.4. Recommendations for elimination of identified deficiencies

The reports on visits to the institutions where persons deprived of their liberty are placed, contain recommendations of NPM for eliminating deficiencies, addressed to competent authorities.

In 2016, NPM issued 318 recommendations for the elimination of identified deficiencies.

The issued recommendations, in addition to the established facts and/or deficiencies in the work, identified violations of the rights of persons deprived of their liberty, also contain relevant legal provisions and standards applied by NPM in establishing any deficiencies related to the work of the subject-matter institutions, with which they need to adjust their operations.

Due to the specific position of refugees and migrants staying within the territory of the Republic of Serbia on their way to developed countries of EU, NPM was forced to, considering the lack of a legal framework that would be fully applicable in the current situation, create its own standards and ad-hoc methodology of work related to monitoring of the rights of refugees /migrants.

Composed reports with the recommendations for eliminating the observed deficiencies are submitted to the visited institutions and competent ministries.

The reports are submitted to the competent ministries to inform them about the deficiencies related to the work of the visited institutions and for the purpose of monitoring the implementation of recommendations.

All the recommendations delivered to the visited institutions /competent Ministries, are provided in the section ANNEX I of the Report.

5.4.1. Acting of competent authorities upon recommendations of the National Assembly of the Republic of Serbia

By its conclusions, the National Assembly of the Republic of Serbia⁶⁹ has obliged the competent authorities to comply with the NPM recommendations, and to inform the National Assembly of their implementation in writing. According to the information available to the NPM, the competent authorities did not act upon the recommendations of the National Assembly.

5.5. Dialogue with authorities

The NPM, in cooperation with the Administration for Enforcement of Criminal Sanctions and association Initiative of Youth for Human Rights, organized the round table titled: "Health care in the prison system of Serbia", that gathered doctors and other medical staff working in the institutions for the enforcement of criminal sanctions. The participants were, in addition to being addressed by the Deputy Protector of Citizens and representatives of NPM, addressed by the head of the Administration for Enforcement of Criminal Sanctions, Head of the Special Prison Hospital and experts in the field of human rights and provision of health care. The objective of the round table was to educate the participants about the standards of offering the health care in institutions and to share the most significant findings and recommendations of the National Preventive Mechanism.

The NPM organized the round table to discuss the topic of “Human rights and social inclusion of refugees and migrants in the Republic of Serbia” in order to start a dialogue between all the relevant actors in achieving the specific plans and ensure an adequate and timely inclusion of refugees and migrants in Serbia, as well as to protect their rights. The round table was organized within the project titled „Human rights of migrants and refugees: Serbia and the Balkan route – National institutions for the protection of human rights and international legal activities“ jointly conducted by the Protector of Citizens and the High Commissioner for Human Rights of OHCHR, with the support of the Federal Government of the Republic of Germany.

5.6. Organization of events and promotion of NPM/prevention of torture

In order to promote and protect the rights of persons deprived of their liberty, the NPM representatives took part at numerous conferences in 2016, including round tables, seminars and trainings. The Deputy Protector of Citizens participated in the annual meeting of NPMs held in Vienna, organized by OSCE for democratic institutions and human rights associations for the prevention of torture. The meeting was attended by the representatives of European Committee for Prevention of Torture, UN Subcommittee for Prevention of Torture and numerous experts. The objective of the meeting was to point to the achievements and challenges in the work of NPMs, to improve the strategy and efficiency of the NPMs mandates and regional OSCE Missions, as well as the cooperation between them.

By organizing the Press Conference, NPM marked a 10th anniversary of the enforcement of the Optional Protocol to the Convention against Torture and other Cruel, Inhuman or degrading Treatments and Punishments (OPCAT). The experience with working with persons deprived of their liberty was shared at the conference by the Deputy Protector of Citizens, the resident Coordinator of UN and representative of UNDP in Serbia, including the experts of NPM Serbia, Director of the Lawyers’ Committee for human Rights, member of NPM Serbia and a representative of the Administration for Enforcement of Criminal Sanctions.

The NPM representatives presented to the students of the Law School at the University of Belgrade, the work method of the NPM. Also, the Initiative of Youth for Human Rights organized lectures for students with the topic of “Monitoring of Prison System”, at which the representatives of NPM citizens took part as lecturers.

The representative of NPM participated at the meeting organized by European Union Agency for Fundamental Rights (FRA), Council of Europe, European Network of Equality Bodies and European Network of National Human Rights Institutions (ENNHRI) for the purpose of developing a 2016 Platform and the work plan for the European Network of National Human Rights Institutions in the area of the protection of rights of refugees and migrants. The work of the Protector of Citizens was presented there, along with the operations carried out in the role of the National Preventive Mechanism in the context of protecting the rights of refugees and migrants. Also, the participants were presented the Declaration on the protection and promotion of the rights of refugees and migrants adopted by Ombudsmen/national institutions for the protection of human rights in Belgrade, November 2015.

The Protector of Citizens and the secretary general of the NPM participated in the workshop organized by Greek Ombudsman in Thessaloniki, the topic of which was “Refugees /migrants and human rights: Regional joint Action Plan of Ombudsman”. They adopted the Regional joint Action Plan of Ombudsman Institutions, based on the Belgrade declaration. Also the Protector of Citizens and the secretary general of the NPM participated in the two-day International Conference “Responding to actual challenges in Europe by Ombudsman” in Barcelona, organized by the Ombudsman of Catalonia, chairing the European group of International Ombudsmen Institutes, one of the topics being the “Migrants and Refugees”.

The website of the NPM (<http://npm.rs>), in Serbian and English languages contains all the news, reports on visits and answers of authorities about acting upon recommendations, including other NPM activities in Serbia.

5.7. Cooperation with the UN Committee against Torture, UN Sub-Committee for the Prevention of Torture and the European Committee for the Prevention of Torture

In the course of 2016, the Serbian NPM continued cooperation with the UN Committee against Torture, UN Sub-Committee for the Prevention of Torture and the European Committee for the Prevention of Torture.

NPM continued with the common practice of submitting its annual reports to the UN Committee against Torture, UN Sub-Committee for the Prevention of Torture and the European Committee for the Prevention of Torture.

Considering that the Ministry of Health did not provide its answer about acting upon recommendations⁷⁰ addressed to the Republic of Serbia by the European Committee for the Prevention of Torture in its 2015 Visit Report⁷¹, the NPM organized the visit to the Special Hospital for Psychiatric Diseases „Dr Slavoljub Bakalovic” in Vršac, to ensure a follow-up regarding the implementation of recommendations from the Report on the visit of the European Committee for the Prevention of Torture to the Republic of Serbia in 2015. The report on the above visit that was drafted in the beginning of 2017, the NPM addressed 20 recommendations for eliminating the identified deficiencies, to the Ministry of Health.

⁷⁰ The Document Answers and Comments of the competent authorities of the Republic of Serbia to the Report of European Committee for Prevention of Torture and inhuman and degrading Treatments and Punishments, following the fourth interim visit to the Republic of Serbia in the period from 26 May to 5 June 2015, submitted by the Government to the Committee.

5.8. Cooperation with other NPMs

In the course of 2015, the Serbian NPM continued the cooperation within the South-East Europe NPM Network.

In 2016, the NPM representatives participated in the meetings organized by South-East Europe NPM Network (the NPM Network), held in Salzburg, Vienna and Zagreb. The topic of the meeting held in Salzburg in April 2016 was the conditions of accommodation and treatment in social welfare institutions with a focus on homes for the elderly persons and deprivation of liberty by overmedication. The topic of the meeting held in Vienna was the homes for the elderly and/or standards in medical care and medication-based deprivation of liberty. The meeting of the Network held in Zagreb in November, had several topics: improvement of monitoring the actions upon recommendations of national mechanisms, implementation of UN Mandela rules, including the role of NPMs in the protection of refugees and migrants.

In mid-December 2016, the NPM of Serbia organized the two-day meeting of NPM Network in Belgrade, attended by the representatives of Network members, including the representatives of associations in Serbia. The topic of the meeting was the preventive approach to the protection of human rights of refugees and migrants in the SEE countries. On the first day of the meeting, the Network members shared their experience from visits to locations where refugees and migrants are staying and the future plans and challenges related to the protection and improvement of the rights of refugees and migrants. After having addressed the meeting, the participants were split into two groups to visit the Asylum Center in Krnjača and informal gathering place of migrants in Belgrade. On the second day, the members of NPM Network shared their impressions and observations from the visits in Belgrade and discussed future challenges to be encountered by the Network, after which certain steps of the NPM in the region have been defined, to prevent maltreatment of refugees and migrants.

5.9. Distribution of the Annual NPM Report

The Republic of Serbia ensured, as in previous years, that the NPM Annual Report for 2015 is published and distributed.⁷² This was directly conducted by NPM.

NPM Annual Report for the year of 2015 was submitted to the National Assembly, sectoral ministries, as well as to associations and experts the NPM cooperated with in different areas. In order to inform the general public, the Report was also posted on the web page of the Protector of Citizens and NPM⁷³. Moreover, the publication is available in Serbian and English languages.

⁷² Optional Protocol, Article 23.

⁷³ http://www.zastitnik.rs/attachments/2902_izvestaj_%20NPM_%202012.pdf.

The report in English language was submitted to the UN Sub-Committee for the Prevention of Torture (SPT), UN Committee against Torture (CAT), European Committee for the Prevention of Torture (CPT), Association for the Prevention of Torture (APT) and to the other relevant international organizations.

5.10. Review of the Annual NPM Report for 2015

The National Assembly of the Republic of Serbia and its competent bodies did not deliberate on the recommendations set forth in the NPM Report for the year 2015.

Despite the fact that the practice was established that the National Assembly of the Republic of Serbia and its competent bodies to discuss annual reports of the NPM, in the course of 2016, by the time of submitting this Report, the 2015 NPM Report has not been reviewed by the National Assembly, nor by its competent committees.

The NPM points out that the competent authorities are obliged to review the recommendations from the Annual NPM Report⁷³.

Discussing the recommendations from the NPM Report for the year 2015 would concurrently be the opportunity to review the actions taken by competent bodies upon conclusions made by the National Assembly on 23 October 2014, on acting upon recommendations from the NPM Report in 2013⁷⁵.

6. Condition and activities of the NPM per areas in 2016

In the several years long mandate of the Protector of Citizens, set forth by the Optional Protocol to the UN Convention against torture⁷⁶, in discharging the activities under the National Preventive Mechanism (NPM), the Protector of Citizens found that the prevention of torture and other forms of abuse and treatment of persons deprived of their liberty, has significantly improved in the Republic of Serbia.

Following numerous visits to places where persons are or may be found deprived of liberty, the NPM concluded that there is no torture as an organized or encouraged phenomenon by state authorities in the Republic of Serbia.

It is encouraging that over the past few years the civil servants who treat persons deprived of their liberty have become aware that torture is absolutely illegal. In this regard, there are numerous testimonies of randomly interviewed persons deprived of their liberty, especially in prisons, that they were not victims of torture.

Nevertheless, this does not mean that there is no torture or other form of abuse in the Republic of Serbia. Individual cases of torture or abuse are always possible and expected to be occurring. The torture, as any other form of abuse, is of a situation-related and the persons deprived of their liberty are therefore exposed to a higher risk for a continuing period.

Other than that, individual cases of the treatment of persons deprived of their liberty have been identified as the result of deficiencies in the system and they represent the poor practice retained until today, deviating from the applicable standards, that might, considering the intensity and duration, might grow into, and in some cases they indeed do, a humiliating or inhuman behaviour and even the torture.

Moreover, the systemic gaps in the organization and treatment of persons deprived of liberty, such as inadequate accommodation in some prisons, lack of or non-compliance with the procedures, lack of adequate psychological and social treatment, inappropriate health care and inadequate staffing might, particularly where persistent, adopt a character of an inhuman or humiliating behaviour.

The NPM has pointed out that the institutions in which the persons deprived of liberty are placed, that were visited by the NPM team during the reporting period that were subsequently addressed with its recommendations, were highly cooperative and enabled the NPM to perform its assignment, as mandated by the established Optional Protocol to the UN Convention against torture (both announced and random visits to the detention centres were enabled, as well as the access to all the premises and installations, inspection of all the data including the interviews with all the prisoners, staff and any other persons selected by NPM).

76 Adopted on December 18th, 2002 at the 57th session of the General Assembly of the UN based on the Resolution A/RES/57/199, entered into force on 22nd June 2006.

However, despite the significant steps towards the prevention of torture and other forms of abuse, including the improvement in the treatment of the prisoners, the NPM points out that the internal control, prosecution offices and court instruments require much more improvement in terms of effective and efficient fight against torture. In this respect, it would be recommendable to fully harmonize the provisions of the Criminal Code with the definition of torture referred to in Article 1 of the UN Convention against torture

In the course of 2016, the NPM visited a number of places where the persons deprived of liberty are placed, such as police stations, international reception centres for foreigners, detention units, prisons, psychiatric hospitals and psychiatric institutions in public hospitals, social welfare institutions used as homes, asylum centres and reception centres for migrants.

In acting upon the NPM recommendations, addressed with the aim to protect and warrant the rights of apprehended and detained persons, as well as to prevent their mistreatment by the police, the visited police departments hand over to the detainees the appropriate written notifications about the rights of the detained persons and maintain due records of detentions.

Although the Instructions on treatment of the detained and brought in persons has still not changed, the police officers of individual police departments ceased with the practice of obligatory presence during medical checkups of all the detained persons, but rather attend only at the request of a doctor, for security reasons. The files formed upon detention of persons no longer include the medical records of the persons while the information about the health condition of the detained person are available to the police officers only to the extent relevant for the treatment of that person upon his/her detention.

A number of detention premises in police stations still do not comply with present standards in terms of material conditions and the recommendations of the NPM to improve the conditions in certain detention premises was predominantly not acted upon, stating unacceptable reasons – the lack of material and technical conditions.

NPM has found that the Ministry of Interior failed to organize appropriate trainings for police officers in each police department in the Republic of Serbia about the treatment of mentally impaired persons.

Taking into account the significance of having additional prevention and protection measures against abuse of persons deprived of their liberty, recording of information received from citizens (the interviews) and hearing of suspects, the Ministry of Interior was addressed a recommendation to, in cooperation with the Ministry of Justice, within their legal competences, ensure the funds and required technical equipment for audio and visual recording of hearing processes. However, this recommendation has still not been acted upon. The position of detainees remained almost unchanged compared to the previous period. There is still a public perception of having the detention measure easily pursued and often accompanied with the violating the principle of the presumption of innocence, that in certain cases the detention represents a punishment before judgement. Despite of the NPM's recommendations to the institutions to ensure living room space for detainees and find a way to engage them in work, they continue to spend the most of the day locked in their dormitories, without any purposeful activities organized.

NPM, the same as in previous reports, points to the issue of having the detained women kept in solitary confinement for an unacceptably long period due to a relatively small number of women in one detention unit. Although the system for the execution of criminal sanctions perceives the isolation /solitary confinement as special and/or disciplinary measure strictly limited in time, in practice, for certain female detainees this is the regular measure taken against them, which indicates the negative aspect of women detention system.

During the reporting period, the material conditions have been improved in certain institutions for the enforcement of criminal sanctions. However, three institutions were found to be completely unusable and their refurbishment in accordance with the standards impracticable and therefore, recommendations were addressed to close them and/or to have them moved elsewhere (the district courts in Smederevo and Subotica and Vršac Section of the District Prison in Pančevo).

According to the recommendations of the NPM to ensure the prevention of abuse, following the coercive measures against prisoners, the prison doctors enter in their reports on completed checkups, specifying the statements of persons about the manner in which the injuries were inflicted and their opinion about the connection between the coercive measures applied and the injuries, as their legal obligation. In addition to the afore mentioned, acting in line with the recommendations, the institutions have established the Record of Injuries of persons deprived of their liberty, including the practice of making photographs of injuries, while the non-medical staff ceased to attend the medical checkups of the prisoners.

Providing of medical care in institutions is still under the jurisdiction of the Ministry of Justice –Administration for Enforcement of Criminal Sanctions. This is not in accordance with the international best practice and deprives the doctors of their independence, first of all in creating assumptions for determining the cases of torture.

In the reporting period, acting upon recommendations of the NPM, the Ministry of Health initiated the regular professional oversight over the work of health services within the institutions.

The shortcoming pointed to by the NPM that is still present, was that the principle of common enforcement of sanction is not achieved. Specifically, during the day, a large number of convicts do not spend time with other convicts in common occupancies, but instead, they are isolated in the cells all the time (either alone or in small groups).

Certain institutions have shown some progress with engaging the prisoners in work, which should be done throughout the entire prison system.

The process of classifying the convicts is insufficiently transparent. The convicts are not being sufficiently familiarized with the criteria for improvements, the tutors are mainly dealing with administration of questionnaires. The mechanism of improvements regarding the treatment against the current criteria, involves the harder transfer of convicts to more favourable tutorial groups, so that many convicts are being released from prison from the same tutorial group to which they were classified immediately upon their admission to prison.

The prison capacities designated for minors and women are the central (exclusive) institutions accommodating 200 persons each. Strong informal systems are being created there, particularly those designated for minors, which makes the adequate treatment impossible. In such central institutions, the problem is that certain prisoners are kept very far from their residence, which considerably obstructs their contacts with families.

During 2016, the NPM also dealt with the position of transgender persons deprived of their liberty. The competent authorities were recommended to, upon admission of trans gender persons to the institution, enable them select whether their personal search would be performed only by the officer of a certain gender or whether the combined search and examination will be conducted, whether the officers are to address the trans gender persons in the gender these persons feel they belong to, unless otherwise requested by these persons, as well as to have appropriate training for the staff about the way in which the lesbians, gays, bisexual, transgender and intersex prisoners should be treated.

Special attention should be paid to the deprivation of liberty and treatment of persons placed in social welfare institutions – homes. The improvements primarily need to be made to regulations so as to regulate the issue of restricting the rights of persons placed in home social institutions, particularly their forced apprehension and keeping, including their physical restraint.

The conclusion of the NPM is that among the persons deprived of their liberty, the persons having mental disorders are in the worst position, whether they be placed in social welfare institutions – homes, psychiatric hospitals or in institutions for enforcement of criminal sanctions.⁷⁷

There are numerous acts in which the NPM stated that persons with severe mental disorders should not be placed under regular prison regime. Moreover the NPM points out that persons suffering from serious mental disorders who committed an offence containing the elements of criminal act, who do not pose particular threat upon the society, should not be processed based on the Criminal Procedure Code, but rather be kept and placed in a psychiatric institution, pursuant to the Law on Protection of Persons with Mental Disorders. It is unacceptable to keep persons having serious mental disorders in custody due to the threats shared over social networks or to keep the persons on the security measure of compulsory medical treatment and care at the health care institution over ten years, due a bicycle theft.

NPM believes that the practice of keeping the persons with mental and/or intellectual disorders at residential institutions (psychiatric hospitals and social welfare institutions – homes) for a prolonged period, for some of them even for life. This is largely the consequence of having no resources to provide care and support to these persons outside the institutions. More specifically, there is no efficient concept of deinstitutionalization in the Republic of Serbia that would provide the living conditions for persons having mental and/or intellectual disorders within the local community, with their close family. The current concept is not comprehensive and is based on providing services and administering of accommodation as a part of care. Instead, it is necessary to establish a unified national care and support concept for these persons and their families and at the level of local communities form multidisciplinary services that shall be fully equipped in terms of staffing, logistics and finance, to provide a continuing support and care for the persons that require this, including to their families.

⁷⁷ Persons serving measures of compulsory psychiatric treatment and stay in health care institutions, detention and prison sentences.

The types of services and form of accommodation must not be administered in advance. They should be defined based on the needs that are subject to changes and that should be the outcome of duly conducted estimates by the multidisciplinary services at the local community level.

The shortcomings of the Law on Protection of Persons with Mental Disorders have still not been eliminated. It has been regulated that the services for protection of mental health in the community are to be organized as the additional activity of psychiatric institutions and health care centres that neither have sufficient human resources nor interest in providing such support. Due to such solution, the deinstitutionalization activities in Serbia are negligible. The Law has introduced isolation measure for psychiatric patients that not only is contrary to the applicable standards, but also to the established practice in Serbia. Furthermore, the Law has prescribed the competence of police officers to maintain order within the psychiatric hospitals, which is not in line with the current standards, considering that these are armed persons wearing uniforms.

The present psychiatric hospitals are huge, each of them accommodates around several hundreds of patients. They have largely adopted the character of asylum centres, as numerous patients are excommunicated from the community for more than one month, many of them as long as for a decade, while some even for life. There is a trend of keeping a large number of persons in hospitals for social reasons, as there is no other form of support and their treatment in the community.

The court decisions on compulsory hospitalization of persons with mental disorders are mainly based on expertise provided by doctors employed in hospitals proposing such measures. Moreover, there is a number of cases where the consent to hospitalization was provided by persons who were in an agitated condition after being brought by police officers, although the statements given under such circumstances cannot be regarded as legally relevant.

NPM believes that the activities to improve the current legislation must be intensified, including the treatment of persons with disabilities placed in social welfare institutions – homes. Namely, a large number of persons with mental and intellectual disorders are placed in remote and often huge institutions, far from their community and their social environment. Also, living conditions in many of these occupancies are rather poor and disregarding the required psychological and sociological treatment. All these institutions lack staff, which has an adverse impact on both the staff members and inmates.

Pursuant to the applicable legislation, in the event of economic deprivation of persons, the consent to medical treatment is provided by their guardian who is often not present at the moment when this needs to be administered. Also, it is extremely important to regulate the role of the person having mental and intellectual disorders in making decisions about medical measures, that is, in providing consent to such measures. In this respect, the regulations need to be improved so as to ensure a more effective protection of these persons when applying medical or scientific tests.

In its visit Reports, the NPM addressed the recommendations to establish procedures regarding the physical restraint of social welfare beneficiaries, introducing of Record maintaining to register the injuries of inmates and engage independent authorized physician who would issue death certificates for patients. The recommendations also addressed the provision of sufficient number of staff to work with the inmates and required number of orthopaedic aids for them. In order to ensure the privacy of inmates, the recommendations were given to ensure the preconditions for their privacy. The NPM expresses its concerns, as in certain institutions of social welfare – homes, they identified cases of keeping persons in isolation and some of them in rooms without elementary conditions, comparable to cages, without tap water or available toilet facility. Such treatment is the case of abuse and where prolonged, represents a torture. Also, it was found that in the social welfare institutions – homes, other than isolation, the measure of mechanical restraint with tying of patients is used, although, unlike psychiatric institutions, there are no legal grounds for either of such conducts.

The freedom of movement outside the institutions is still being limited to the beneficiaries, despite the fact that there are no legal grounds for that, nor any procedures in place that would regulate their keeping inside the institution. The NPM referred a recommendation to the Ministry of Labour, Employment, Veteran and Social Affairs in order to take action from their own jurisdiction and provide appropriate regulation of such situation.

NPM sent the recommendations in the Reports on visits made to social welfare institutions – homes, to adopt the Regulation that would set forth the issue of providing items for personal needs of inmates placed in homes, to develop a Protocol on acting in the event of an unexpected (sudden) death of beneficiaries, including to ensure the sufficient number of medical, nursing and other staff.

The migrants are now staying in Serbia for a longer time and therefore, the problem of providing the required care to them is by far more complex. Unlike the previous period when they used to transit through Serbia and stay for only couple of days, they are now staying for several months. Some of them wish to seek an asylum in Serbia, but most of them still desire to continue their journey to the developed countries of EU. Bearing in mind that the migrants will stay in the centres for a prolonged period, by the end of the reporting period, the NPM sent to the Commissariat for Refugees and Migrations the recommendation to introduce the procedure of complaints against the work of persons engaged in centres. The uncertainty of continuing the journey, prolonged stay in Serbia, insecure future and not understanding the situation where they have found themselves cause stress among the migrants, that may be recognized during the visits and interviews with them. It is therefore important to provide them the psychological support that is not organized in the majority of visited centres. The NPM recommended that the support of professional staff and premises for talking with the migrants are provided.

6.1. Police / prosecutorial detention

In order to monitor the way police officers treat the brought, arrested or detained persons, the National Preventive Mechanism visited overall 33 police stations in 2016.⁷⁸ 8 Reports were made on the visits to Police Administrations that were addressed 88 recommendations. Out of this number of provided recommendations, the competent authorities acted upon 44 recommendations, they partially acted upon 40 of them, and failed to act upon 4 recommendations.

78 At 8 Police Administrations (PA Kruševac and five police stations operating under it; PA Požarevac и седам police stations operating under it; PA Subotica; PA Niš and six police stations operating under it; PA Leskovac and five stations operating under it; PA Pirot, PA Novi Pazar and two police stations within its organization, including PS Vršac).

Acting upon recommendations of the NPM, addressed in order to protect and exercise the rights of apprehended and detained persons and the prevention of their mistreatment, Police Administrations in Kruševac, Leskovac, Niš, Novi Pazar and Pirot hand over to the detained person's appropriate written notifications about their rights. In line with the recommendations, records of detained persons are duly maintained in the Police Administrations in Kruševac, Niš and Požarevac.

Police officers of Police Administrations in Kruševac, Leskovac and Subotica abandoned the practise of obligatory presence during medical checkups of all the detainees, but currently do so only upon the request of a doctor, for security reasons. Police Administrations in Leskovac and Niš no longer insert medical documents of persons in the files formed upon the detention of persons, while the information about health condition of detained persons is available to police officers solely to the extent relevant for their treatment during detention.

In acting upon the NPM recommendations, persons detained based on the Law on Criminal Procedure in the Penal and Correctional Institution in Niš – Detention Unit in Pirot, are, during the detention time, allowed to stay in fresh air, have shower and elementary items for maintaining hygiene.

After the provided recommendations, the living conditions in the detention premises were improved in several police administrations.⁷⁹ Furthermore, in 2016 the police department in Batajnica and the Police Station in Bač were furnished with new detention rooms.⁸⁰ Police Administrations in Novi Pazar and Požarevac enhanced their firefighting system in buildings they use. Nevertheless, many detention premises still do not meet the contemporary standards in terms of living conditions provided therein,⁸¹ while the recommendations of the NPM to improve conditions in certain premises for detention have not been complied with, stating the unacceptable justification – the lack of material and technical conditions.⁸²

In order to duly document any case of using the coercive measures and provide an unbiased evaluation whether their use was justified and proper, the NPM recommended to the Police Administrations in Kruševac, Niš and Požarevac to obtain written statements of persons against whom the coercive measures were taken, with regard to the circumstances of such measures and any injuries inflicted, and these Police Administrations acted accordingly.

In addition to regular visits, five visits were made for the purpose of monitoring the actions upon previous recommendations (PA Pirot, PS Vršac and PA Novi Pazar including stations operating under it).

79 In the premises of the Police Administration seat in Kruševac and Police Station in Tutin, an improved artificial lighting has been installed and in the premises of the Police Administration seat in Leskovac and Police Station in Lebane, artificial lighting and airing of premises has been improved.

80 Letter of Mol, 02/5 no.: 251/16-34 of October 27, 2016.

81 Premises for detention in the seats of Police Administrations in Niš and Novi Pazar; at police stations in Brus, Trstenik, Varvarin, Čičevac, Lebane, Merošina, Svrlijig, Ražanj, Doljevac Aleksinac, Sjenica, Veliko Gradište and Kučevo; police unit in Požarevac.

82 Detention rooms in police administrations in Niš and Novi Pazar; police stations in Lebane, Merošina, Svrlijig Ražanj, Doljevac, Aleksinac and Sjenica.

For years already, the NPM has been pointing to the necessity of amending the Instructions on treatment of the detained and brought in persons,⁸³ due to its inconsistency with substantive regulations and standards. Particularly problematic provisions are those laying down the mandatory use of restraints, particularly when transporting the persons, including the obligation of police officers to attend the medical checkup of the detained person. Despite the delivered recommendations, the Ministry of Interior has still not initiated an amendment to the instructions.

According to the information made available to the NPM, the Ministry of Interior failed to organize trainings of officers from all Police Administrations in the Republic of Serbia on the treatment of persons having mental disorders.

An additional and important prevention and protection measure against mistreatment of persons deprived of their liberty is recording the collected notifications from citizens (the interviews) and interrogation of suspects. The Ministry of Interior was addressed with recommendations to, in cooperation with the Ministry of Justice, within the legal powers, ensure funds and required technical equipment for audio and visual recording of interrogation process.⁸⁴ However, this recommendation has not been acted upon yet.

GENERAL RECOMMENDATIONS FOR ELIMINATION OF SHORTCOMINGS

Police officers should not be present in the course of the medical checkups of detainees, unless this is exceptionally required by the doctor. Police officers need to timely provide any available information to the doctor, where relevant for the doctor do decide about the presence of a police officers in the course of a medical checkup of a detainee.

The Ministry of Interior needs to refurbish the existing and provide new premises for the police detention in accordance with the current standards.

The Ministry of Interior should align individual provisions of the Instructions on treatment of the detained and brought in persons with the applicable regulations and standards.

The Ministry of Interior should organize training for police officers in all police administrations of the Republic of Serbia on the treatment of persons with mental disorders.

The Ministry of Interior should, in cooperation with the Ministry of Justice and within the legal powers, provide funds for the required technical equipment for audio and visual recording of the hearing process.

6.2. Pre-trial detention

In the reporting period, the NPM visited 6 detention units within the institution for enforcement of criminal sanctions, specifically: DP Subotica, DP Leskovac, DP Smederevo, DP Pančevo – Vršac unit, DP Vranje and CPI Sombor. The competent authorities were addressed around 50 recommendations to eliminate the identified shortcomings related to exercising of rights of detainees.

The capacities of detention unit of DP Vranje have been expanded and living conditions in accommodation capacities of the district prisons in Leskovac and Vranje have been improved. However, poor condition of premises where detainees are being placed is still present in the majority of institutions.

When making visits to the NPM district prisons in Subotica and Smederevo, that is, after having inspected the files of the detainees, it was stated that there is a rule for the court to issue approval for each visit and define the time of visits. As stated by the detainees, duration of visits is 15 minutes, while the officers point out that the visits last longer, up to half an hour, if the visitor is arriving from remote places. After having talked to the management of institutions, it was concluded that the courts order exclusively short visits in order to be able to accomplish all the registered visits. In both cases the NPM addressed the recommendation to the institutions to ensure that visits to detainees last one hour and notify the competent court about the possibility to enable that such visits to detainees last as prescribed by regulations. The Institutions notified NPM that they would take actions to ensure that the visits are carried out in line with the regulations.

Despite the improvements as regards the increased participation of the persons deprived of their liberty in penal and correctional institutions in work, a large number of them are still not involved in work nor included in other activities. This particularly refers to cases where convicts are split between closed units and custody suits.

Although the NPM addressed recommendations to institutions to provide living rooms for the detainees to stay at during the day, they still spend most of the time locked in their dormitories, without any purposeful activities organized.

The problem that due to a relatively small number of female detainees in detention units causes placing of detained women in isolated, solitary confinements for an unacceptably long period is the problem about which the NPM has been warning for years already, and it has not been resolved. This often equalizes the special disciplinary measure used against persons serving the sentence of imprisonment and the regular detention measure for female detainees.

GENERAL RECOMMENDATIONS FOR ELIMINATION OF SHORTCOMINGS

The Administration for enforcement of criminal sanctions should continue with the activities of aligning the accommodation capacities in detention units of the institutions for enforcement of criminal sanctions, with the current standards.

Institutions for enforcement of criminal sanctions enable all the detainees to spend time outside dormitories, with other detainees who are not prohibited by the court to have contacts.

Institutions for enforcement of criminal sanctions should continue to create conditions for engaging the detainees in work and their inclusion into social and cultural activities.

The Administration for enforcement of criminal sanctions shall take the necessary steps to amend the Regulation on enforcement of detention measure, to set forth a more detailed way for the detainees to spend the available time during the day outside dormitories, in common occupancies, with other detainees where there is no court decision prohibiting such contacts and to provide a more detailed regulation for the detainees to exercise their right to work and be involved in social and cultural activities.

It is necessary to take steps to prevent that female detainees spend time in isolation and/or confinement, due to their small number.

6.3. Enforcement of criminal sanctions

NPM visited overall 9 institutions for enforcement of criminal sanctions (District Prison in Subotica; Penal and Correctional Institution in Niš; Penal and Correctional Institution Belgrade; Penal and Correctional Institution in Padinska Skela; District Prison in Smederevo, District Prison in Pančevo – Unit in Vršac, District Prison in Vranje, District Prison in Leskovac and the Penal and Correctional Institution in Sombor). Out of the total number of visits, two were made due to monitoring of actions taken upon previous recommendations (the follow-up visits) – visits to District Prison in Leskovac and Penal and correctional Institute in Niš, four were thematic – visits to District Prison in Vranje and penal and correctional institutions in Belgrade, Padinska Skela and Sombor, while the remaining three were regular systemic visits to - District Prison in Subotica, District Prison in Pančevo – Section in Vršac and District Prison in Smederevo. Overall 104 recommendations for eliminating of identified deficiencies were addressed. The institutions acted upon 77 recommendations, 6 were not acted upon while 21 recommendations require subsequent follow-up.

During the reporting period the living conditions of accommodations in district prisons in Leskovac and Vranje, including PCI Niš have improved. The premises designated for visits of close persons of DP Leskovac were renovated and equipped, the kitchen and dining room were refurbished and the damp was eliminated, the majority of common toilets and sanitary facilities were renewed and the hygienic painting of all rooms and corridors in the “old pavilion” was completed.

The District Prisons in Smederevo and Subotica, and the Unit in Vršac of the District Prison in Pančevo, are located in buildings inadequate for the accommodation of persons deprived of their liberty, that do not allow for providing all the rights as laid down by the regulations and standards.⁸⁵ Considering that the current shortages cannot be rectified with renovation or refurbishment, the NPM delivered recommendations to the Administration for enforcement of criminal sanctions to provide appropriate buildings for these institutions. The Administration notified NPM that the new Penal and Correctional Institution in Pančevo will be operable as of January 1, 2018 and that they will try to provide funds to build and reconstruct the building of the DP Subotica, about which they will timely notify the NPM.

Bearing in mind that medical checkups conducted in line with the rules of profession and provisions of substantive legislation is an essential precondition for achieving the duty of a state to take measures to prevent impunity for any form of abuse and the significant segment in the prevention of violence against persons deprived of their liberty, the NPM presented to the institutions its recommendations that the doctors also include in their reports made following the medical checkups of convicts if the convict states or any other person declares that violence was inflicted against him/her, and enter the way of inflicting injuries and his/her own opinion about the connection between the allegations about the way the injuries were made and actual injuries, as their legal obligation,⁸⁶ including to describe in details and make photographs of the stated injuries. Also, in almost all its reports on visits, the NPM addressed its recommendation to the institutions not to perform the checkups in presence of non-medical staff, other than if the doctor requests so for security reasons, being understood that the members of security service are obliged to notify the doctor about any such reasons. In the event that the non-medical staff member is present at the medical examination, the institution should make sure that the medical examination is not attended by the member of security service who ordered or applied the coercive measures nor any other person indicated to have exerted violence against him/her. If the doctor requests that non-medical staff is present, this fact needs to be recorded including the data about the present non-medical staff, in the medical records of the convict.

In keeping with the recommendations of the NPM, the doctors of district courts in Leskovac, Smederevo and Subotica, following the medical checkups conducted after applying coercive measures, are entering in their reports the statements of persons against whom they were applied, about the way they were inflicted and the opinion about the connection between the implemented measure and inflicted injuries. In addition to this, DP Smederevo, acting pursuant to the received recommendations, introduced the Record of injuries of persons deprived of their liberty, and the practise to take photographs of injuries, while in DP Subotica, non-medical staff ceased to attend medical checkups of persons deprived of liberty, other than in the situations when the doctor requests so for security reasons.

In the reporting period, the District Prisons in Smederevo and Subotica improved their health care for persons deprived of liberty: actions were taken to maintain a more updated medical records and adequate medical resources, more regular checkups with specialist doctors and psychological support to persons deprived of their liberty.

However, there is still a number of shortcomings with respect to the health care provided in the institutions for enforcement of criminal sanctions: the institutions have insufficient number of medical staff, both general practitioners and specialists, including medical technicians; many institutions have no continuing presence of staff having medical qualifications, due to which the therapy is being administered by a non-medical staff; persons with mental disorders are placed in regular prison regime that is inadequate for providing medical care and psychological and social treatment; problems have been identified with providing the required medications and medical aids; certain institutions do not provide confidentiality of medical examinations and data about the health condition of persons deprived of liberty; health care services of the institution are still the organizational units of the institutions for enforcement of criminal sanctions instead of having the health care of institutions provided by the Ministry of Health or as an interim solution, to have the health care services within the institutions become a part of a unique organizational function in the central office of the Administration.

Although the Ministry of Health generally provides no regular oversight of the work of health services in institutions, during the reporting period, this Ministry conducted the professional oversight over the work of the health care service in DP Smederevo, acting upon the NPM recommendation. This case has shown the significance of such monitoring practise. Among other, the compliance with the requirements for performing specific health care activities at the Outpatient Center was determined, including for the work of the General Practitioner's office, and in order to improve its health care practise, the Institution signed the contracts with the general hospital in Smederevo.

During the visit to DP Smederevo, it was established that the convicts being under special regime of intensified surveillance, are placed in the dormitories used for regular accommodation and that other convicts who are not subjected to these measures are placed in the same dormitories with them. In acting upon the NPM recommendation, the Department corrected this irregularity.

After having received the NPM recommendations, the DP Subotica governor, issued orders to the competent organizational units of the Institution, to rectify these shortcomings and among other, to provide to the prisoners the professional legal assistance with the disciplinary procedure and adequately define the goals within the treatment program to enable the foreigners deprived of their liberty to make telephone calls abroad.

NPM recommended to PCI Belgrade to enable the convicts to spend the available time during the day outside the dormitories, in the common living room area, together with other convicts. The institution notified the NPM of the steps taken to provide funding for forming the space for the living rooms and that they would immediately initiate the conversion of designation of certain large office areas that will be used for this purpose.

Despite the improvements regarding the work engagement of persons deprived of liberty at the institutions for enforcement of criminal sanctions, there is still a large number of them who do not work and are not involved in any other activities. This particularly applies to convicts split into confined units. Moreover, the social events that are only meagre in number in these institutions are organized for small groups of people. The stated reason for this is the lack of motivation to be engaged in work and be included in activities that could be organized. Nevertheless, the NPM believes that the Institutions for enforcement of criminal sanctions should offer the widest possible range of jobs and purposeful daily activities to persons in prisons and motivate them to take part in them. The positive example is the PCI Niš that considerably improved its work and treatment of persons in prisons and thus became an example of good practise in the work of such institutions. This institution made the significant improvement with the accommodation capacities and offered different forms of activities for the convicts, while out of 1400 convicts in the Institution, around 1000 of them are working.⁸⁷

In 2016, the NPM also dealt with the position of transgender persons deprived of liberty. The competent authorities were recommended to enable the transgender persons to, upon being admitted to the institution, decide whether its personal and body search will be conducted only by the officer of the specific gender or if a combined personal and body search is to be conducted, or to have the officers address the transgender persons in the gender with which they identify themselves other than if the person asks otherwise, as well as to deliver appropriate training for the staff on the treatment of lesbians, gays, bisexual, transgender and inter-sex prisoners. The NPM received the response that due to the applicable regulations, it is not possible to act as recommended when it comes to personal and body search or addressing the transgender persons, but that the staff is being trained on the mechanisms for achieving the gender equality, standards and principles of equality and non-discrimination with respect to the sexual orientation and gender identity and on the appropriate communication with the LGBT population.

GENERAL RECOMMENDATIONS FOR ELIMINATION OF SHORTCOMINGS

The Administration for enforcement of criminal sanctions should continue with the activities of aligning the accommodation conditions in Institutions for enforcement of criminal sanctions with the applicable standards.

The Administration for enforcement of criminal sanctions should ensure sufficient number of medical workers, necessary quantity of drugs and medical aids to improve the health care provision at the institutions for enforcement of criminal sanctions.

The Administration for enforcement of criminal sanctions should ensure that persons with mental impairment serving their prison sentences be displaced from the regular prison regime and be provided health care corresponding to their disease within the stationary health care units within institution, in Special Prison Hospital or any other adequate health-care institution.

The Ministry of Health should make periodical oversights over the work of health care services at the institutions for enforcement of criminal sanctions.

Ministry of Justice and the Ministry of Health should undertake necessary measures so that services providing health care at the institutions for the enforcement of criminal sanctions become organizational parts of the Ministry of Health or, as an interim solution, to become the part of a unique organizational unit in the central office of the Administration.

Institutions for enforcement of criminal sanctions should enable to all persons serving their prison sentences to spend their available time outside the dormitories during the day, in the common rooms with the other convicts.

Institutions for enforcement of criminal sanctions should continue to improve conditions for engagement of persons serving their prison sentences in the work, as well as be involved in other daily activities.

Ministry of Justice should undertake all measures under its competence so as to adopt regulations that would enable that prison sentences for women and minors, as well as correctional measures of committing to correctional homes, are enforced in more than one institution.

Ministry of Justice should undertake necessary measures so that the inspection becomes a special organizational unit of that Ministry, outside the Administration for the Enforcement of Criminal Sanctions.

6.4. Detention of persons with mental disorders in psychiatric hospitals

In 2016, the NPM made 2 visits Special Psychiatric Hospitals in Vršac and Kovin, including 1 unannounced night visit to the Department of General Psychiatric Hospital in Subotica, which was followed by 8 recommendations. The Hospital in Vršac was visited as the follow-up of recommendations from the Report on the visit of European Committee for Prevention of Torture to the Republic of Serbia in 2015, while the Hospital in Kovin was visited to verify the compliance with the NPM recommendations from the 2014 Report on the visit.⁸⁸ The competent bodies acted upon all the recommendations referred to them. Also, with regard to certain recommendations⁸⁹ of systemic nature, the NPM plans to have it discussed with the Ministry of Health in the future, in order to also find the solution for acting upon these recommendations.

During the reporting period, the NPM found no systemic improvement of treatment of persons with limited freedom of movement at psychiatric institutions, but several individual ones were accomplished. In order to improve the treatment of patients, the psychiatric unit of the General Hospital in Subotica and SBPB Kovin, pursuant to the law, follows the procedure of admittance to the psychiatric institution only upon the consent of the patients, while the decision on the detention of patients having mental disorders to the hospital, is made by the consultation committee of psychiatric institution, in compliance with all legal procedures. Also, the patients are being notified about their rights and obligations when admitted to the Hospital, while when physical restraint is required against a patient, they are being placed in separate rooms, without the presence of other patients.⁹⁰

However, despite certain improvements regarding the treatment of psychiatric patients, the large psychiatric hospitals⁹¹ still, for an extensive period, keep a large number of patients in the accommodation conditions that do not comply with the current standards, the dormitories of high capacity have still not been turned into smaller rooms nor are there separate rooms for the visits to patients. The number of medical, nursery and other staff is still insufficient. Activities that need to provide a way to establish the care outside the institution and provide the support to mentally impaired persons in the community (including to their families) have still not been implemented. The provisions of the Law on Protection of Persons with Mental Disorders⁹² and the Rulebook on Conditions for the Application of Physical Restraints and Isolation of Persons with Mental Disabilities Treated in Psychiatric Institutions⁹³ contain major deficiencies with respect to forming of services for the protection of mental health in the community, procedures of voluntary and forced hospitalization, role of the police with respect to the persons with mental disorders, physical restraint and in particular, those provisions setting forth the isolation measure for the patients.⁹⁴ It is necessary to provide a gradual, but systemic and immediate closing of big psychiatric hospitals. The precondition for this is the urgent establishment of efficient mechanisms in local communities for the acceptance, support and care for the persons having mental and intellectual disabilities.

Furthermore, the regulations on providing of the patient's consent have not been improved, particularly for those placed in psychiatric institutions, to medical treatments, pursuant to applicable international regulations and standards. It is necessary to delete the provisions of the Law on protection of persons having mental disorders, who have been ordered the isolation as psychiatric patients. The agitated persons, whether physically restrained or not, should be accompanied with some of the medical staff, since the forced isolation of persons having mental disorders might have detrimental consequences for their psychological condition.⁹⁵ In order to protect the persons with mental and intellectual disorders, it is necessary to introduce the general provisions regulating the provision of consents to medical treatment. According to the present legislation, where these persons are economically deprived, the consent to their medical treatment is provided by their guardian who is rarely present at the moment when the treatment is to be administered. It is also crucial to regulate the role of persons having mental and intellectual disorders in making decisions about administering of medical treatment, that is, about providing the respective consent. In this respect, the regulations need to be improved so as to ensure the better protection of these persons when conducting medical or scientific testing.

GENERAL RECOMMENDATIONS FOR ELIMINATION OF SHORTCOMINGS

The Ministry of Health should, without delay, carry out the required activities aimed at establishing the community care and support outside the institutions, to persons with mental disorders (and to their families), that is, the reorganization of services in secondary and tertiary psychiatric institutions, focusing on the treatment of persons with mental disorders in daily hospitals and outpatient centres, that is, ensure forming of organizational units that perform activities of protection of mental health in the community.

The Ministry of Health should take actions under its competence to enact the law on amendments to the Law on Protection of Persons with Mental Disorders, that is, to improve the provisions on forming the services for the protection of mental health in the community, procedures of voluntary and forced hospitalization, role of the police with regard to the persons with mental disorders, physical restraints and in particular, those who have been ordered the isolation for patients. Such initiative requires the amendments to the Rulebook on Conditions for the Application of Physical Restraints and Isolation of Persons with Mental Disabilities Treated in Psychiatric Institutions.

The Ministry of Health should undertake the refurbishment of accommodation capacities in large psychiatric hospitals.

The Ministry of Health should take measures to hire the sufficient number of medical, nursery and other staff and thus elevate the quality of health care services.

6.5. Detention of persons in home type institutions for social protection

In 2016, the NPM visited overall 6 home type institutions for social protection, with the aim to oversee the position of beneficiaries accommodated there, in particular: Home "Veternik", Home for adult persons Kulina; Home for adult and elderly persons "Gvozden Jovančičević", Veliki Popovac, Home for the Blind "Zbrinjavanje", Gerontology Centre in Novi Sad – the working unit Home for the retired and elderly persons in Novo Naselje and Gerontology Center in Vršac. 6 Reports were made, out of which 4 were sent in 2016 and two in the beginning of 2017. The competent authorities were addressed 44 recommendations for the elimination of identified deficiencies in their work. Out of this number, the competent authorities acted upon 27 recommendations, while 8 require further monitoring and 9 are systemic. In the next period, the NPM plans a dialogue with the competent ministries⁹⁶ in order to find a common solution to the method of implementing the recommendations and improve the practise in line with the standards.

In its reports on visits⁹⁷ the NPM sent its recommendations for introducing the procedures related to physical restraint of social welfare beneficiaries, establishing the Records of injuries of beneficiaries and outsourcing an independent certified who would be issuing death certificates for the patients. Also, the recommendations addressed the requirement to provide the sufficient number of staff for working with the patients, and to provide the required orthopaedic aids for them. Certain recommendations referred to the requirement of respecting the privacy of beneficiaries. The NPM expresses its concern due to the situation in certain home type institutions for social care where the persons having mental and intellectual disorders are placed in isolation for the entire time, some of which being in rooms with no elementary conditions for staying there, resembling cages,⁹⁸ without tap water or available toilet facility. Such treatment is the case of abuse and where prolonged, represents a torture. Also, it was found that in the social welfare institutions – homes, other than isolation, the measure of mechanical restraint with tying of patients is used, although, unlike psychiatric institutions, there are no legal grounds for either of such conducts.

Acting upon received recommendations of the NPM, and in order to improve the treatment of beneficiaries, Home for adult persons Kulina and Gerontology Centre Novi Sad adopted the procedures for implementing the physical restraints - fixations. The Home for adult persons Kulina introduced these improvements by ceasing the measure of the prolonged isolation of one of the beneficiaries. The Records were introduced in the Home for adult and elderly persons "Gvozden Jovančičević", Veliki Popovac and the Home for adult persons Kulina to maintain the log of injuries of beneficiaries, while the expert determination of the cause and time of death of beneficiaries who passed away in these institutions are no longer conducted by doctors employed in these institutions, but the doctors who have been designated by the local self-governments to provide an expert determination of time and cause of deaths, coming from the external health institutions, issuing the death certificates. In order to enhance the living conditions and treatment of beneficiaries, the Home for the Blind "Zbrinjavanje", ensured that the privacy of beneficiaries is respected and provided for a more frequent control of their health condition, particularly of those belonging to vulnerable groups. Also, measures were taken to secure the orthopaedic aids in order to support more effective rehabilitation and care of patients in this Home.

NPM sent the recommendations in the Reports on visits made to home type institutions for social protection,⁹⁹ to adopt the Regulation that would set forth the issue of providing items for personal needs of inmates placed in homes, to develop a Protocol on acting in the event of an unexpected (sudden) death of beneficiaries, including to ensure the sufficient number of medical, nursery and other staff. It is encouraging that after the end of the reporting period, at the beginning of 2017, the Ministry of Labour, Employment, Veteran and Social Affairs submitted their answers to the previously addressed recommendations, which indicates their readiness to establish a dialogue in the near future, in order to seek for the best model for implementing the recommendations, primarily when it comes to the enhancement of human rights.

Despite individual improvements towards the better treatment of beneficiaries, the NPM is concerned about the fact that there is still no system in place for providing the care and support to persons with mental disorders, outside the institutions, within the communities, and that there is no systemic concept of deinstitutionalization and no conditions have been met to provide care and support in the local community. Home type institutions for social protection continue to accommodate a huge number of beneficiaries for an extensive period. In addition, the beneficiaries are still being limited their freedom of movement outside the institution, although there are no legal grounds for that, nor any procedures in place laying down their detention in the institutions. The Protector of Citizens addressed the recommendation in relation with the deprivation of free movement of beneficiaries in the home type institutions for social protection to the Ministry of Labour, Employment, Veteran and Social Affairs, in order to take actions falling under its competence and regulate this segment. However, the Ministry did not provide any information to the Protector of Citizens about the legal grounds for limiting the freedom of movement outside the institutions, nor established any procedure about the limitation or approval of movement of beneficiaries outside the institutions.

It is undoubtedly necessary to impose to certain persons, in their best interest and depending on their mental condition and intellectual capacities, the limited ability to leave the institution. However, such limitations must be precisely regulated.

In order to protect the persons with mental and intellectual disorders, it is necessary to revise the provisions of regulations that provide general approach to providing the consent to a medical treatment. Subject to the applicable regulations, if such persons are economically deprived, the consent to such medical treatment is provided by their guardian who is often absent at the moment when the treatment needs to be administered. Also, it is crucial to regulate the role of the persons with mental and intellectual disorders in deciding about the administration of medical treatment that is, about the consent to it. In this respect, the regulations need to be enhanced so as to ensure more effective protection of these persons when the medical or scientific testing are applied.

99 Report on the visit Home for adult persons Kulina, Report on the visit to the Home for adult and elderly persons "Gvozden Jovančičević", Veliki Popovac.

GENERAL RECOMMENDATIONS FOR ELIMINATION OF SHORTCOMINGS

The Ministry of Labour, Employment, Veteran and Social Affairs needs to, in coordination with other competent authorities, conduct the systemic activities to ensure the deinstitutionalization and/or providing of conditions to offer care and support to persons with intellectual and mental disorders (and their families) in the local community.

Ministry of Labour, Employment, Veteran and Social Affairs should take actions from their field of competence to provide appropriate regulation of terms and conditions and the procedure for limiting the freedom of movement and physical restraint for beneficiaries of home type institutions for social protection.

Ministry of Labour, Employment, Veteran and Social Affairs should adopt the Rulebook to regulate the issue of providing items for personal needs of inmates placed in homes.

Ministry of Labour, Employment, Veteran and Social Affairs should, in cooperation with relevant authorities, develop a Protocol on acting in the event of an unexpected (sudden) death of beneficiaries placed in homes.

Ministry of Labour, Employment, Veteran and Social Affairs should take action to ensure hiring of the sufficient number of medical, nursery and other staff and enable the provision of an enhanced level of social welfare services.

6.6. Treatment of refugees / migrants and overview of the refugee crisis

In cooperation with the Belgrade Centre for Human Rights and with the support of UNHCR, 52 thematic visits were made, as a follow-up of acting of competent authorities towards refugees and migrants transiting the Republic of Serbia. Visits were made to the Asylum Centres in Krnjača, Bogovađa, Tutin and Sjenica, Reception Centres in Subotica, Sombor, Šid Principovac, Adaševci, Bujanovac and Preševo, Reception Centre for foreigners in Padinska Skela, Police Station in Vršac, Police Administrations in Belgrade, Niš, Leskovac, Novi Pazar and Vranje, Regional Centres of Border Police at the BCPs with Hungary, Romania – North, Bulgaria and Macedonia, Social Welfare Centre in Preševo, social protection institutions offering services of home accommodation to minors in Subotica, Belgrade and Niš, Institutions for enforcement of criminal sanctions in Vranje and Sombor and informal places of gathering of migrants along the BCPs in Horgoš and Kelebija and at several locations in Belgrade. The reports addressed to competent authorities included 72 recommendations for eliminating of identified deficiencies: 41 recommendations were acted upon, 10 were not while acting upon 21 recommendations require further observation.

Bearing in mind that Hungary and Croatia fortified their control at points of entry to their territory, in order to establish the control over the border with Bulgaria and Macedonia and discourage the migrants from entering the country at the spots where this is not permitted and to prevent smuggling of humans, Serbia formed mixed military - police patrols. These patrols perform the tasks of securing the border and inland territory of the state and they are being under the command of the Serbian Army.

The migrants are currently staying in Serbia for a prolonged period and the issue of providing the care for them is by far more complex. Unlike the previous period when they used to transit Serbia and stay for only couple of days, they are now staying for several months. Some of them wish to seek an asylum in Serbia, but most of them still desire to continue their journey to the developed countries of EU. Having anticipated such situation, in its Annual Report for the year 2015, the NPM sent a proposal to the Government to develop the Plan for providing care to refugees and migrants who are stranded or returned to Serbia; Plan on how to treat those who were not granted any protection in Serbia; as well as a Plan for integration of those who were granted asylum in Serbia. By the end of the year, the government adopted the Decree on the method of inclusion into social, cultural and economic life of persons who have been recognized their right to Reception Centre,¹⁰⁰ Commissariat for Refugees and Migrations is to provide the integration of these migrants through full and timely provision of information about the rights, opportunities and obligations; learning of Serbian language; learning about the Serbian history, culture and constitution system; assistance with their inclusion into the education system; support with their exercising the rights to health and social protection and assistance with their joining the labour market. Nevertheless, the plans for the treatment of migrants who have found themselves in Serbia or who were returned to Serbia as well as those who have not been approved protection here, still do not exist at the governmental level, and therefore, acting towards the migrants is conditional upon the situation in the field, in different parts of the country. Consequentially, there are diverse rules adopted in reception centres and differences in the treatment by police officers of the migrants who arrived from the war-stricken countries and therefore there are differences in the scope of protection provided to unaccompanied minors. Furthermore, there is an impression that this entire system of providing care for migrants currently depends on the humanitarian aid of national and international organizations of civil society and foreign countries, and the success of the Commissariat with finding donators for different needs. In the long run, such system will prove to be unsustainable and it is necessary to adopt action plans at the national level.

According to the estimates of UNHCR, at the end of the year, there were around 6,400 migrants in the country. Out of this number, as at November 30, 2016, around 5,300 of them were placed in official centres, while the remaining number of people stayed at the informal gathering locations, outside the institutions of the system. The data of the Commissariat showed that in the course of 2016, around 7,000 migrants were admitted to asylum centres only (in Tutin, Krnjača, Sjenica, Banja Koviljača and Bogovađa), most of them to the Asylum Centre in Krnjača: about 4,300.¹⁰¹

During 2016, an additional number of reception centres were either opened or adapted for the use as reception centres (Piroć, Dimitrovgrad, Divljana near Bela Palanka, Bosilegrad, ¹⁰⁰ "Official Gazette of RS", no. 101 dated December 16, 2016.

¹⁰¹ According to the information of the Commissariat, the peak of the inflow of migrants to the Asylum Centres was in the period July – September 2016, when 2,632 of them were admitted, compared to the other quarters when around 1,500 migrants were admitted.

Bujanovac and Sombor), while opening of a few more has been announced. The commissariat made visible efforts to provide adequate conditions for the accommodation of migrants in all the centres, to provide meals, conditions for maintaining the hygiene, health care, clothes and shoes and satisfying of other elementary needs.

As a part of its monitoring of the treatment of migrants by the competent authorities, the NPM also visited the improvised camps and other informal gathering places of migrants. The conditions for their stay on these locations are unacceptable, they are hazardous for their health and provide no possibility for them to maintain hygiene. The majority of them haven't been registered. In addition, such situations is hazardous for the public health and safety of the parts of residential areas where these camps are located, in addition to not being acceptable for the stay of minors who were spotted during the visits. At the repeated visits of the camps along the border near Horgoš and Kelebija, it was noticed that the number of migrants decreased. The improvised gathering places of migrants being outside the institutions of the system were particularly bad in the abandoned warehouse close to the Belgrade bus station.¹⁰² Following its visits to the park of Luka Čelović (next to the Faculty of Economics of the University of Belgrade) and the Sveti Nikola square (a park near the bus arrival plateau of the Belgrade bus station), the NPM took the position that the measures should be taken to include the migrants in the institutions of the system. The Commissariat for Refugees and Migration notified the NPM that the officers of the Commissariat intensified their activities on providing the information and advising the migrants about the possibilities of their accommodation in the Asylum Centre in Krnjača and that in cooperation with the local self-government, the regular transportation has been organized to Krnjača (4 busses a day).

After the Balkan route closure, the migrants were no longer issued the confirmations of their entry to the territory of Serbia for foreign nationals arriving from the countries where their lives were threatened, based on the Decision of the Government on issuing the confirmations,¹⁰³ considering that with such confirmation, they were able to stay in Serbia for 72 hours from the time of its issue. The consequence of stopping with the practise to issue the confirmations was that a significant number of migrants who entered the country, who did not express the wish to seek for an asylum, was not recorded by the Ministry of Interior, but only by the Commissariat for Refugees and Migrations at the moment of their accommodation in the Centres. Keeping of records by the Commissariat involved the entry of personal data of the migrants in the uniform electronic records. In the second half of the year, the Ministry of Interior announced the registration of all migrants staying in the centres, that involved taking of their personal data and photographs and collecting finger prints of migrants above 14 years of age.

On the occasion of visiting the centres for accommodation of unaccompanied minors from foreign countries, placed within the institution for education of children and youth in Niš and Belgrade, the NPM reported that these institutions provide to unaccompanied minors the services of stay, health care and meals, covering the costs of transportation and in order to satisfy the needs of the minors coming from abroad and providing them the social protection, the NPM proposed to the Ministry of Labour, Employment, Veteran and Social Affairs to increase the funds allocated for these institutions. The Ministry notified the NPM that the funds for improving the protection system for unaccompanied minor migrants, strengthening the capacities of social welfare staff and increasing the accommodation capacities in the social welfare institutions were provided, including the vehicles that will be provided for permanent use to the social welfare institutions providing support by admitting unaccompanied minor migrants. In addition to this, the field workers were engaged to provide support to the vulnerable categories of migrants. However, during the visit to the Reception Centre in Subotica, it was reported that the field workers were insufficiently dedicated to their professional assignment of working with the vulnerable groups. During the visit, it was reported that there is a designated space for children, adequately furnished for the daily stay of children, with professional staff working with them. In the transit zone at the "Nikola Tesla" Airport, mothers with children who were refused the entry into the country are staying in the premises specially designated and furnished for their stay.

During the visits to the Reception Centres in Šid and Adaševci, the migrants had a large number of complaints about acting by the officers of the Commissariat and other persons hired to provide the support to them, of which the officials controlling the work of these centres were unaware. Considering this situation and the fact that the migrants will be staying in the centres for an extensive period, at the end of the reporting period the NPM sent to the Commissariat for Refugees and Migration the recommendation to introduce a procedure for addressing the complaints to the work of the persons engaged in the centres and Commissariat complied with it.

The uncertainty of continuing the journey, prolonged stay in Serbia, uncertain future and lack of awareness about the situation cause stress among the migrants, that may be recognized during the visits and interviews with them. Adding to these circumstances the fact that the migrants have spent much time on this journey during which many of them suffered or witnessed violence and that many of them lost their family members or were separated from them, the present situation in which the migrants are will inevitably make their psychological condition worse and cause conflicts both between them and between the migrants and officers. It is therefore important to provide them the psychological support that is not organized in the majority of visited centres. Such kind of support requires professional staff and premises for talking with the migrants.

The Asylum Office is still the organizational part of the Police Department – the Border Police Administration, meaning that the Office still has no desirable civil character and that not all the preconditions have been fulfilled for the independent management of procedures and making decisions about the requested asylums or revoking of such right. The draft Law on asylum and temporary protection submitted to the Protector of Citizens for providing the opinion, used to provide that the Asylum Office becomes the organizational unit of the Ministry of Interior, whose officers do not belong under the uniformed police forces of the Ministry. The opinion of the Protector of Citizens about this Draft states that it should be specifically regulated that the Asylum Office is not the organizational part of the Police Department and that the staff of that Office are not police officers.¹⁰⁴

104 Opinion of the Protector of Citizens on the Draft Law on Asylum and Temporary Protection, available at: <http://www.ombudsman.rs/index.php/2011-12-11-11-34-45/4944-ishlj-nj-z-sh-i-ni-gr-d-n-n-cr-z-n-zilu-i-privr-n-z-sh-i-i>.

In the course of visiting the Reception Centres, it was reported that the majority of centres accommodate both the migrants who expressed their intention to seek for an asylum and those who did not. Namely, since the Asylum Centre capacities have been filled, as the institutions providing primary accommodation and basic living conditions to the persons seeking asylum, the migrants who expressed this will are directed by the competent police administrations to some of the reception centres reported by the Commissariat for Refugees and Migrations notifies to have free accommodation places. Despite this, the Asylum Office failed to register these persons, issue the identity cards for asylum seekers or enabled the authorized officers to file the application for asylum. After the visit to the asylum centres in Bogovađa, Tutin and Sjenica and the Reception Centre in Adaševci, the NPM recommended to the Asylum Office to take legally prescribed measures for these persons, but these recommendations were not acted upon. The Border Police Administration justified such failure to act upon the recommendations by the fact that they did not receive personal and other data for these persons from the Commissariat for Refugees and Migrations, that these persons do not stay in centres for longer than a couple of days, that there are no available interpreters and that these persons predominantly, after being placed to reception centres, state to the officers of the Commissariat that they do not want the asylum.

In the reporting period, about overall 144,000 migrants were recorded on the territory of the Republic of Serbia with more than one third of minors (54.882) included in that number. According to the data kept by the Ministry of Interior, 12,814 confirmations about the expressed will to seek the asylum were received in 2016. Despite this fact, the Asylum Office registered only 916 persons and the asylum requests were decided for overall 580 persons: 19 of them were approved, the subsidiary protection was provided to 23 persons and 43 asylums were rejected, 39 denied, while the procedures for 466 persons have been suspended.

Considering that the conditions for autonomous conducting of procedures and decision making regarding the asylum applications and the cancellation of such right have not been met, that the Asylum Office fails to take all the legally prescribed activities towards all the persons who expressed their will to seek the asylum in the Republic of Serbia as well as the large number of confirmations of the expressed wills, number of registered persons and the number of those upon whose requests the decision has been adopted, the NPM finds that the Republic of Serbia has still not established the efficient asylum system.

As early as in 2015, the NPM gave warning that the premises at „Nikola Tesla“ Airport accommodating foreigners who do not meet conditions for the entry into the country are not appropriate for the stay of persons for more than a day and that there is no possibility for these persons to stay in fresh air.¹⁰⁵ Upon visiting the Border Police Station in the transit zone of the Airport in 2016, it was found that this situation did not change and therefore, recommendations were given to eliminate these deficiencies. The NPM was notified that in November 2016, at the meeting of the Border Police Administration with the representatives of „Nikola Tesla“ Airport a.d., all the details and aspects of developing the Project Design for the adaptation of these premises have been discussed.

105 Report on the visit to „Nikola Tesla“ Airport pages 9 and 10, http://npm.rs/attachments/513_lzvestaj.pdf.

Following the visits to the Regional Centres of the Border Police at the BCPs with Bulgaria and Macedonia, the Police Administration in Vranje, Reception Centre in Padinska Skela and the Border Police Station in Belgrade at the “Nikola Tesla” Airport, the NPM recommended to the Ministry of Interior to provide written leaflets containing information about the legal status of migrants and their rights, in the languages they would understand, to be distributed by the police officers to the migrants, and that for the sake of a clear and precise communication they provide the translators/interpreters. However, the Ministry informed the NPM that they did not act upon these recommendations due to the lack of funds and human resources, but that in the near future, they would take into consideration the possibility of developing the leaflet.

NPM identified major shortcomings in the organization of health care for foreigners placed in the Reception Centre in Padinska Skela and the confidentiality of their health condition and the prescribed therapy. After the recommendations have been addressed to rectify these omissions, the NPM was informed that the Ministry of Interior has no HR, spatial or financial capacities to ensure the permanent presence of medical staff in the Reception Centre, as well as that they would undertake additional actions to ensure that the nearby Penal and Correctional Institution in Belgrade – Padinska Skela, provides the regular health care to foreign persons.

In the course of the reporting period, the NPM paid special attention to the protection of the most vulnerable groups of refugees and migrants, particularly the children and women. During the NPM visit, the conditions for the accommodation of children, pregnant women and mothers of new-born babies were checked including the provision of health care to female migrants and children and whether the competent authorities provided adequate and timely interventions in the cases of domestic violence, human trafficking and abuse and neglect of children.

It was noted that identification of unaccompanied children was performed with difficulties, due to which the NPM addressed the Ministry of Labour, Employment, Veteran and Social Affairs with the recommendation to take measures to establish specific procedures and develop mechanisms for having a more efficient identification of minors as well as of other particularly vulnerable categories of people requiring additional assistance and care.

2. No exceptional circumstances whatsoever, whether a state of war or a threat of war, internal political instability or any other public emergency, may be invoked as a justification of torture.
3. An order from a superior officer or a public authority may not be invoked as a justification of torture.

Article 3

1. No State Party shall expel, return („refouler“) or extradite a person to another State where there are substantial grounds for believing that he would be in danger of being subjected to torture.

Extradition shall be subject to the other conditions provided by the law of the requested State.
3. States Parties which do not make extradition conditional on the existence of a treaty shall recognize such offences as extraditable offences between themselves subject to the conditions provided by the law of the requested State.

(c) The Committee shall deal with a matter referred to it under this article only after it has ascertained that all domestic remedies have been invoked and exhausted in the matter, in conformity with the generally recognized principles of international law. This shall not be the rule where the application of the remedies is unreasonably prolonged or is unlikely to bring effective relief to the person who is the victim of the violation of this Convention;

(d) The Committee shall hold closed meetings when examining communications under this article; (e) Subject to the provisions of subparagraph

In every matter, the report shall be communicated to the States Parties concerned.

2. The provisions of this article shall come into force when five States Parties to this Convention have made declarations under paragraph 1 of this article. Such declarations shall be deposited by the States Parties with the Secretary-General of the United Nations, who shall transmit copies thereof to the other States Parties. A declaration may be withdrawn at any time by notification to the Secretary-General. Such a withdrawal shall not prejudice the consideration of any matter which is the subject of a communication already transmitted under this article; no further communication by any State Party shall be received under this article after the notification of withdrawal of the declaration has been received by the Secretary-General, unless the State Party concerned has made a new declaration

II-2 Optional Protocol to the Convention against Torture and other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment

PREAMBLE

The States Parties to the present Protocol,

Reaffirming that torture and other cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment are prohibited and constitute serious violations of human rights,

Convinced that further measures are necessary to achieve the purposes of the Convention against Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment (hereinafter referred to as the Convention) and to strengthen the protection of persons deprived of their liberty against torture and other cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment,

Recalling that articles 2 and 16 of the Convention oblige each State Party to take effective measures to prevent acts of torture and other cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment in any territory under its jurisdiction,

149 Сл. лист СФРЈ – Међународни уговори по. 9/91

Recognizing that States have the primary responsibility for implementing those articles, that strengthening the protection of people deprived of their liberty and the full respect for their human rights is a common responsibility shared by all and that international implementing bodies complement and strengthen national measures,

Recalling that the effective prevention of torture and other cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment requires education and a combination of various legislative, administrative, judicial and other measures,

Recalling also that the World Conference on Human Rights firmly declared that efforts to eradicate torture should first and foremost be concentrated on prevention and called for the adoption of an optional protocol to the Convention, intended to establish a preventive system of regular visits to places of detention,

Convinced that the protection of persons deprived of their liberty against torture and other cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment can be strengthened by non-judicial means of a preventive nature, based on regular visits to places of detention,

Have agreed as follows:

Part I

GENERAL PRINCIPLES

Article 1

The objective of the present Protocol is to establish a system of regular visits undertaken by independent international and national bodies to places where people are deprived of their liberty, in order to prevent torture and other cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment.

Article 2

2. The Subcommittee on Prevention shall carry out its work within the framework of the Charter of the United Nations and shall be guided by the purposes and principles thereof, as well as the norms of the United Nations concerning the treatment of people deprived of their liberty.

3. Equally, the Subcommittee on Prevention shall be guided by the principles of confidentiality, impartiality, non-selectivity, universality and objectivity.

4. The Subcommittee on Prevention and the States Parties shall cooperate in the implementation of the present Protocol.

Article 3

Each State Party shall set up, designate or maintain at the domestic level one or several visiting bodies for the prevention of torture and other cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment (hereinafter referred to as the national preventive mechanism).

Article 4

1. Each State Party shall allow visits, in accordance with the present Protocol, by the mechanisms referred to in articles 2 and 3 to any place under its jurisdiction and control where persons are or may be deprived of their liberty, either by virtue of an order given by a public authority or at its instigation or with its consent or acquiescence (hereinafter referred to as places of detention). These visits shall be undertaken with a view to strengthening, if necessary, the protection of these persons against torture and other cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment.

2. For the purposes of the present Protocol, deprivation of liberty means any form of detention or imprisonment or the placement of a person in a public or private custodial setting which that person is not permitted to leave at will by order of any judicial, administrative or other authority.

Part II

 - (b) Where both candidates have been nominated by the State Party of which they are nationals, a separate vote by secret ballot shall be held to determine which national shall become the member;
 - (c) Where neither candidate has been nominated by the State Party of which he or she is a national, a separate vote by secret ballot shall be held to determine which candidate shall be the member.

Article 8

If a member of the Subcommittee on Prevention dies or resigns, or for any cause can no longer perform his or her duties, the State Party that nominated the member shall nominate another eligible person possessing the qualifications and meeting the requirements set out in article 5, taking into account the need for a proper balance among the various fields of competence, to serve until the next meeting of the States Parties, subject to the approval of the majority of the States Parties.
